BLACK ELECTED SUCCESSOR TO JACK LANDRUM

Veteran Mentor Chosen From Large Field Of Candidates

LONG RECORD BRILLIANT

Last Year's Grid Team On Top Seven Times

Roy M. Black of Urbana, a veteran in the Ohio high school coaching field, was elected Tuesday evening by the Circleville board of education as director of high school athletics to succeed Jack F. Landrum. Black was chosen from a large field of applicants, many of whom are widely known in athletic circles.

His contract calls for him to start work August 1, Superintendent Frank Fischer said. The salary was not disclosed.

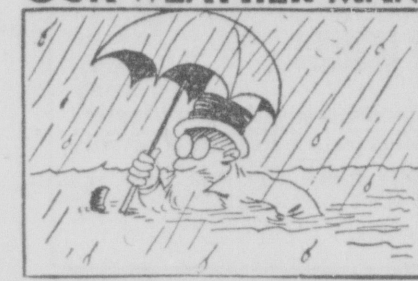

The new mentor comes to Circleville after a splendid record of achievement in several Ohio schools, dating back to 1914 when he started coaching at Martinsville high school, Clinton county. He served there until 1917 when he went to Jefferson township school, Westboro, as principal and coach. In 1918-19 he was athletic director at the U. S. Naval training school, Great Lakes, Ill. His next position was at Mt. Pleasant high school, Clinton county, in 1919, the year before he started a brilliant career as athletic director in Wilmington high school.

Remembered by Alumni Many Circleville athletes of the 1920-1926 era recall Black's football and basketball teams. From 1926 to 1934 he was athletic director of Lebanon city schools and during the same period was physical director of the Civic Trust fund, Lebanon, an organization formed under the William E. Harmon Foundation of parks and playgrounds.

Mr. Black became coach at Urbana in 1934, remaining there through the present season. His record on the football field in the 1937 season listed seven victories and two defeats, the losses being at the hands of Sidney, 14-7, and Tippecanoe City, 9-7. His team defeated West Jefferson, 60-0; Kenton, 20-0; London, 13-7; Delaware, 6-0; Marysville, 40-12; Mechanicsburg, 20-0; Bradford, 20-0, and Circleville, 53-0.

In 40 football games played at Urbana, Black's teams averaged 18½ points a game against 5½ points for opponents with a total of 722 against 221. During his

FIRE DAMAGES VILLAGE HOME

Frank Anderson Property Hit By Flames Caused By Spark

Damage estimated between $300 and $400 resulted from a fire Wednesday at the home of Frank Anderson, S. Main street, Williamsport.

The flames started from a chimney spark igniting a shingle roof, Fire Chief C. E. Hill said. Damage to the home was estimated between $200 and $300, and to contents, $100.

Mrs. Mary Hornbeck, an invalid, was carried from the residence. The blaze was discovered by Miss Elizabeth Allen, who resides next door.

The loss is protected by insurance.

PRESIDENT ACTS TO END DISPUTE OVER 'GAS' SALE

WASHINGTON, May 11—(UP)—President Roosevelt called for a show-down today on the split within his cabinet over the sale of helium to Germany.

To a White House conference he called Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, who has refused for several weeks to permit the proposed sale; Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson, Army Chief of Staff Malin Craig, and the navy's chief of naval operations, Admiral William D. Leahy.

Ickes has refused to approve the sale on the ground that the 19,700,000 cubic feet of the non-inflammable gas assigned to Germany by the helium control board would constitute definite "military value." The helium control law specifically provides that the non-explosive gas, so important to the operation of dirigibles, shall not be sold abroad in quantities sufficient to be "of military value."

President Roosevelt said yesterday at his press conference that the final decision on the proposed sale depends on the interpretation of the words "of military importance."

WELSH HOME RANSACKED

Mrs. Charlotte Welsh, E. Main street, reported to the police department Tuesday that an upstairs room in her home had been ransacked. A watch and a pair of opera glasses are missing. Officers said the room was not used often and the exact time of the burglary is unknown.

Sheriff, Prosecutor And Coroner Cooperating; Charges Expected

Sheriff Charles Radcliff, Prosecutor George E. Gerhardt and Coroner C. E. Bowers continued their investigation, Wednesday, of the auto collision on Route 56, Monday evening, that resulted in the death of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis A. Crawford, of Whisler, and injury to eight persons.

No charges have been filed yet. Five men, all brothers, riding in one of the autos, are being held in the county jail for investigation. They are Beeman Leasure, 28, of Harrison township, Ross county, the driver, Wesley, 34, Alonzo, 38, Denver, 29, and Norman, 27. All suffered cuts and bruises in the wreck.

There is a possibility that a second degree manslaughter charge may be filed, county officials indicated. Three of the Leasure brothers, including the driver, are alleged to have been drinking, Sheriff Radcliff said.

Mrs. Claude Crawford, 37, daughter-in-law of the accident victims, and her two children, Eugene, 14, and Ruth, 15, were injured in the crash.

Double funeral services for Mr. and Mrs. Crawford will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. in the Whisler Presbyterian church, the Revs. A. M. Forrester and S. C. Elisea officiating. Burial will be in Green Summit cemetery, Adelphi.

SCIOTO GIVES UP REVOLVER USED IN TWO DEATHS

MARION, May 11—(UP)—Curly-haired William Roush, 18, told Prosecuting Attorney Paul D. Michel today that he drove his father to the farm six miles south of here where Mr. and Mrs. Homer T. Myers were slain on April 30. The tall farm boy told authorities that he threw away the gun believed to have been used to kill Mr. and Mrs. Myers, on whose farm the Roush family resided. The gun was found in the Scioto river where the youth said he had thrown it, Michel said.

Harvey Roush, 48, the boy's father, has pleaded guilty to a first degree murder charge. The elder Roush is recovering in a Delaware hospital from a suicide attempt. He cut his throat with a razor blade last Friday in the Delaware jail, where he had been taken for "safe keeping."

The elder Roush, father of seven children, said the Myerses were killed as the result of a dispute over a note they held against him.

CABLE GRILLED AFTER 'SUICIDE' NOTE IS OPENED

CANTON, May 11—(UP)—A note written by Miss Theresa Ludwig, 46, before she committed suicide in Conneaut Monday, charged that Mrs. Rose Cable, wife of a wealthy Canton contractor, was killed by hired assassins at her home on March 11, 1937, police revealed today.

The murder of Mrs. Cable, socially prominent wife of Deuber S. Cable, never has been solved. She died from a shotgun charge fired through the window of her palatial home at 11:25 p. m. as she was placing a cover over a canary cage.

"Will you please see that the reward for the Cable murder is gotten and please give it to my sister, Mrs. Edna Rodebaugh, at 351 Main street, Conneaut, O.," the note read.

The city of Canton and Cable each had posted $1,000 reward for information leading to arrest and conviction of Mrs. Cable's slayers. "I am taking the easy way out," Miss Ludwig's note read.

PICKENS HEADS DAVEY'S DRIVE FOR NEW TERM

Former Clerk Of Courts Appointed Manager Of Governor's Campaign

RESIGNS PENSION POST

Poulson's Position During Race Uncertain

Governor Martin L. Davey today announced appointment of Ferd M. Pickens, former Pickaway county clerk of courts, as his campaign manager.

Pickens simultaneously announced his resignation as business administrator for the State Division of the Aid for the Aged, a position which paid $5,000 annually. Pickens has held this post since Dec. 1, 1936.

Lawrence A. Winchell, Chagrin Falls, a state representative of the aid for the aged with headquarters at Cleveland, was named to succeed Pickens. He will receive $4,500 annually. Winchell has been an employee of the Aid for the Aged division since June 1, 1934.

To Direct Activities

Gov. Davey, who is seeking his third term in the executive office, said Pickens would direct "all campaign activities" preparatory to the primary race in August against Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati.

Following his appointment Pickens was asked what his relationship during the primary campaign would be with Francis W. Poulson, state Democratic chairman and long-time political ally of Davey.

"I can not answer that question," Pickens said.

Some months ago Davey attempted to appoint Pickens a member of the State Industrial Commission, but the move was blocked by the senate.

Pickens has been active in Davey's early campaign moves and was credited with having circulated petitions among state employees to "draft" the governor for his third term.

EITEL ARRESTED AS OPERATOR OF GAME OF CHANCE

Don Eitel, 34, E. Main street restaurant operator, posted a $100 cash bond in police court Tuesday night to report for a hearing at 7 p. m. Wednesday on a charge of promoting a game of chance.

Eitel was arrested in a raid conducted by Officers George Green, Alva Shasteen and Carl Radcliff. They reported 12 silver dollars and two sets of dice confiscated. Patrolman Radcliff filed the charge under a city ordinance prohibiting the operation of games of chance.

Eitel was arrested at 2 a. m.

ARRESTED at Memphis, Tenn., on a Los Angeles complaint charging him with threatening the life of President Roosevelt, Keith H. Rapp, 29, is pictured behind bars in Los Angeles jail. The complaint charged Rapp sent letters to friends stating he was "convinced" that the President "should be destroyed" and that he first felt the "urge" when Roosevelt visited Los Angeles three years ago. In recent weeks the President and Washington officials began receiving threatening letters.

GIRL, 20, SHOTS HERSELF; MOTIVE SOUGHT FOR ACT

TOLEDO, May 11—(UP)—A coroner's verdict of "suicide, motive unknown," was given today in the case of Blanche Isabel Wagoner, 20-year-old farm girl who walked into a woods eight miles east of here and shot herself through the heart.

She left home at 3 p. m. Tuesday after telling her mother, Mrs. Rose Wagoner, that she was going to visit a neighbor. Six hours later her body was found.

Miss Wagoner was engaged to marry Ervin Puse, 21, an Ohio State university agricultural student whose parents own a large farm near Millbury.

"Blanche and I had gone to school together since childhood," Puse said. "We had been engaged about a year and would have been married this Fall."

Miss Wagoner spent the early afternoon helping her mother and reading the Bible. She kissed her mother and left in her father's car. The automobile was found near the woods by a searching party.

Melvin Wagoner, the girl's father, a prosperous farmer residing a mile south of Millbury on state route 199, said he could not understand his daughter's suicide.

"She had everything to live for—clothes, jewelry, a fine home, and adoring parents," he said.

U. S. WARSHIPS READY TO TAKE 38 FROM AMOY

Japs Threaten To Ignore Rights Of Foreigners In Island Attack

S. S. ASHEVILLE AT HAND

Ferocious Battle Waged For Possession

SHANGHAI, May 11—(UP)—United States and British warships raced toward Amoy today as Japanese navy authorities threatened to ignore foreign rights in their attack on the island port.

The American gunboat Asheville arrived at Amoy today, after an all night race up the coast, and was prepared to evacuate the 38 Americans if necessary. The cruiser Marblehead was known to be on its way, the destroyer Edsall was reported steaming at forced draught down from Tsingtao, and reports from Manila indicated that a destroyer flotilla might be ordered from there.

Fighting of ferocious nature was reported proceeding at Amoy. Tokyo reported that parts of the city were in flames after a merciless Japanese airplane bombardment.

Jap Fleet Attacked

Reliable sources at Hong Kong advised the United Press that 12 Chinese warplanes, in a retaliatory raid, bombarded the Japanese fleet off Sancho island, near Hong Kong, seriously damaged one destroyer, and shot down one Japanese plane.

It was indicated that at any hour the situation of foreigners at Amoy might become urgent.

Japanese naval authorities announced officially, a United Press Hong Kong dispatch reported, that foreign residents of Amoy had been notified that unless strict neutrality was observed foreign rights would not be respected.

G. O. P. CHARGES BIG DEBT HURTS NATION'S STATUS

WASHINGTON, May 11—(UP)—Republican members of the house appropriations committee charged in a minority report today that President Roosevelt's $4,512,000,000 recovery program threatens national solvency.

Declaring the program "inadequate to meet the serious condition of the country," the report, filed by Reps. John Taber, N. Y., Robert L. Bacon, N. Y., and Richard B. Wigglesworth, Mass., demanded that the administration of relief be returned to the states and recommended a congressional investigation of the Works Progress administration.

It charged that the program, which the President said would cost about $4,512,000,000, in reality was "part of a broad program which involves a new draft of $6,000,000,000 on the treasury of the United States."

Hollywood to Dramatize Exile of Jews

HOLLYWOOD, May 11—(UP)—Sam Goldwyn, of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, announced today that he had ordered production rushed on a picture dramatizing the exiling of Jews from Germany.

The announcement brought a rush of protests from Goldwyn's more timid associates, who said that such a film would ruin the American movie business in Germany. Other officials said that he already had stirred up enough trouble with his one-man campaign against double features. He was begged to stick to the American civil war if he wanted to do a picture with an historical background.

"So I had to tell 'em I knew what I was doing," Goldwyn said. "I had to tell 'em I was making no propaganda picture."

"I'm not taking sides against Mr. Hitler. Officially, I am not interested in what he does, but dramatically I am. When these fellows came to me and said I should make no such picture I had to ask:

"Why should Sam Goldwyn wait 200 years to make a picture of the most dramatic thing that's happened in this generation?"

"It's history. It's happening. I'm not trying to antagonize Germany, but this exiling of great minds is the most dramatic, exciting, momentous thing I ever heard of. It will make great entertainment. That's all I'm interested in."

Goldwyn said he did not believe that any kind of film he made would cause him to lose business in Germany.

His film is entitled "The Exiles." It features Jascha Heifetz in his first screen role and will go into production as soon as Goldwyn can round up a cast to play the parts of the other exiles.

CUT IN WHEAT CROP EXPECTED

Estimates For Great Yield May Result In Move For Curtailment

WASHINGTON, May 11—(UP)—An agriculture department estimate of the second largest winter wheat crop on record today spurred plans for wheat loans and drastic acreage reduction next Fall.

The winter wheat estimate of 754,153,000 bushels indicated a total wheat crop of 954,153,000 bushels was possible if the spring wheat crop reaches 200,000,000 bushels which would be normal.

George E. Farrell, Agricultural Adjustment Administration director for the northwest division, left immediately after the crop board report for a series of conferences with wheat growers on Fall planting plans.

A.A.A. officials discussed a possible 37.5 percent wheat acreage reduction—from 80,000,000 acres this year to 50,000,000 for the 1939 crop. That would be the heaviest cut ever proposed under a government farm program.

Final decision on acreage allotments will not be made until after the July 1 wheat estimate, officials said. If that report indicates a bumper crop the administration may seek to hold plantings to an acreage which would normally produce 500,000,000 bushels next year.

The crop board forecast made virtually certain a loan program this Fall to cushion against a price slump.

'HOT MIX' CASE STARTS BEFORE JUDGE SCARLETT

COLUMBUS, May 11—(UP)—Hearing on a motion for an order to restrain State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson from paying contractors for "hot-mix" road projects until a taxpayer's suit is settled was opened in Judge Henry Scarlett's courtroom today.

The original suit was brought by Mrs. Agnes B. Dickinson, Columbus attorney, who charged violation of the Valentine anti-trust laws by the Hot Mix Bituminous Industry of Ohio, Inc., as the result of revelations by the recent Ohio senate graft investigating committee.

The suit asked for recovery of $2,000,000 to $5,000,000, allegedly due the state because of excessive "hot mix" prices.

He was so shocked that he threw down his cards and forgot to bid.

President Fires Pistol From Palace Window Into Rebel Ranks

NIPPED, CAFFERY REPORTS

Ruler's Personal Guards Join In Revolt

WASHINGTON, May 11—(UP)—Jefferson Caffery, United States ambassador at Rio De Janeiro, reported to the state department today that the Brazilian government had advised him the revolt which broke out last night "was confined to Rio and has been completely quelled."

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 11—(UP)—Government forces fought Fascist rebels in the city streets today and besieged the Ministry of Marine as President Getulio Vargas, revolver in hand, defended himself and his family at his presidential palace.

Green shirt Fascists of the outlawed Integralista party, quietly gathered at the Ministry of Marine, the President's Guanabara palace and the dock yards in the early hours of this morning.

Part of the presidential guard joined the revolt, hoping to seize the President.

A moment before the time set for the outbreak the government was warned of the plot and all preparations were made for a major emergency.

Dissident navy elements and some marines joined in the revolt. Part of the palace guard, killing their commander, tried to capture the palace.

Vargas Protects Family

Vargas, who left the army in his young manhood to go in for the law and politics, stood at a window of the palace, firing into the rebels to protect himself and members of his family, including his daughters.

The President and his family were alone in the palace, and Vargas moved from window to window, shooting, until a loyal officer arrived and joined him.

Soon military police in trucks with machine guns arrived at the palace and quickly obtained domination. They arrested 30 rebels. Under Admiral Raul Tavares, the main rebel force fortified themselves in the Ministry of Marine. There they battled police for hours.

The government mobilized a regiment of loyal navy men and sent them, with bayoneted rifles, to the attack.

At 5 a. m. Police Chief Felinto Mueller announced that the Ministry of Marine rebels had surrendered.

HOFFMAN HUNTING AUTO, LOANED TUESDAY MORNING

Police and the sheriff's department were asked Tuesday night to conduct a search for Walter Crissinger, Jr., E. High street, who disappeared in Columbus Tuesday morning with the auto of Loring Hoffman, 336 E. Union street.

Hoffman said Crissinger rode to Columbus with him in his 1936 Ford coupe. The auto was left with Crissinger while Hoffman went on an errand. Crissinger was to meet Hoffman later but he failed to appear and was still missing Wednesday noon. No charges have been filed.

Hoffman said an outboard motor worth about $175, fishing tackle valued at $200, and a valuable camera were in his car.

ARRESTED at Memphis, Tenn., on a Los Angeles complaint charging him with threatening the life of President Roosevelt, Keith H. Rapp, 29, is pictured behind bars in Los Angeles jail. The complaint charged Rapp sent letters to friends stating he was "convinced" that the President "should be destroyed" and that he first felt the "urge" when Roosevelt visited Los Angeles three years ago. In recent weeks the President and Washington officials began receiving threatening letters.

GIRL, 20, SHOTS HERSELF; MOTIVE SOUGHT FOR ACT

TOLEDO, May 11—(UP)—A coroner's verdict of "suicide, motive unknown," was given today in the case of Blanche Isabel Wagoner, 20-year-old farm girl who walked into a woods eight miles east of here and shot herself through the heart.

She left home at 3 p. m. Tuesday after telling her mother, Mrs. Rose Wagoner, that she was going to visit a neighbor. Six hours later her body was found.

Miss Wagoner was engaged to marry Ervin Puse, 21, an Ohio State university agricultural student whose parents own a large farm near Millbury.

"Blanche and I had gone to school together since childhood," Puse said. "We had been engaged about a year and would have been married this Fall."

Miss Wagoner spent the early afternoon helping her mother and reading the Bible. She kissed her mother and left in her father's car. The automobile was found near the woods by a searching party.

Melvin Wagoner, the girl's father, a prosperous farmer residing a mile south of Moline on state route 199, said he could not understand his daughter's suicide.

"She had everything to live for—clothes, jewelry, a fine home, and adoring parents," he said.

U. S. WARSHIPS READY TO TAKE 38 FROM AMOY

Japs Threaten To Ignore Rights Of Foreigners In Island Attack

S. S. ASHEVILLE AT HAND

Ferocious Battle Waged For Possession

SHANGHAI, May 11—(UP)—United States and British warships raced toward Amoy today as Japanese navy authorities threatened to ignore foreign rights in their attack on the island port.

The American gunboat Asheville arrived at Amoy today, after an all night race up the coast, and was prepared to evacuate the 38 Americans if necessary. The cruiser Marblehead was known to be on its way, the destroyer Edsall was reported steaming at Amoy. Tokyo reported that parts of the city were in flames after a merciless Japanese airplane bombardment.

Fighting of ferocious nature was reported proceeding at Amoy. Tokyo reported that parts of the city were in flames after a merciless Japanese airplane bombardment.

Jap Fleet Attacked

Reliable sources at Hong Kong advised the United Press that 12 Chinese warplanes, in a retaliatory raid, bombarded the Japanese fleet off Sancho Island, near Hong Kong, seriously damaged one destroyer, and shot down one Japanese plane.

It was indicated that at any hour the situation of foreigners at Amoy might become urgent. Japanese naval authorities announced officially, a United Press Hong Kong dispatch reported, that foreign residents of Amoy had been notified that unless strict neutrality was observed foreign rights would not be respected.

G. O. P. CHARGES BIG DEBT HURTS NATION'S STATUS

WASHINGTON, May 11—(UP)—Republican members of the house appropriations committee charged in a minority report today that President Roosevelt's $4,512,000,000 recovery program threatens national solvency.

Declaring the program "inadequate to meet the serious condition of the country," the report, filed by Reps. John Taber, N. Y., Robert L. Bacon, N. Y., and Richard B. Wigglesworth, Mass., demanded that the administration of relief be returned to the states and recommended a congressional investigation of the Works Progress administration.

It charged that the program, which the President said would cost about $4,512,000,000, in reality was "part of a broad program which involves a new draft of $6,000,000,000 on the treasury of the United States."

Goldwyn said he did not believe that any kind of film he made would cause him to lose business in Germany.

His film is entitled "The Exiles." It features Jascha Heifetz in his first screen role and will go into production as soon as Goldwyn can round up a cast to play the parts of the other exiles.

CUT IN WHEAT CROP EXPECTED

Estimates For Great Yield May Result In Move For Curtailment

WASHINGTON, May 11—(UP)—An agriculture department estimate of the second largest winter wheat crop on record today spurred plans for wheat loans and drastic acreage reduction next fall.

The winter wheat estimate of 754,153,000 bushels indicated a total wheat crop of 954,153,000 bushels was possible if the spring wheat crop reaches 200,000,000 bushels which would be normal.

George E. Farrell, Agricultural Adjustment Administration director for the northwest division, left immediately after the crop board report for a series of conferences with wheat growers on fall planting plans.

A.A.A. officials discussed a possible 37.5 percent wheat acreage reduction—from 80,000,000 acres this year to 50,000,000 for the 1939 crop. That would be the heaviest cut ever proposed under a government farm program.

Final decision on acreage allotments will not be made until after the July 1 wheat estimate, officials said. If that report indicates a bumper crop the administration may seek to hold plantings to an acreage which would normally produce 500,000,000 bushels next year.

The crop board forecast made virtually certain a loan program this fall to cushion against a price slump.

'HOT MIX' CASE STARTS BEFORE JUDGE SCARLETT

COLUMBUS, May 11—(UP)—Hearing on a motion for an order to restrain State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson from paying contractors for "hot-mix" road projects until a taxpayer's suit is settled was opened in Judge Henry Scarlett's courtroom today.

The original suit was brought by Mrs. Agnes B. Dickinson, Columbus attorney, who charged violation of the Valentine anti-trust laws by the Hot Mix Bituminous Industry of Ohio, Inc., as the result of revelations by the recent Ohio senate graft investigating committee.

The suit asked for recovery of $2,000,000 to $5,000,000, allegedly due the state because of excessive "hot mix" prices.

He was so shocked that he threw down his cards and forgot to bid.

President Fires Pistol From Palace Window Into Rebel Ranks

Ruler's Personal Guards Join In Revolt

WASHINGTON, May 11—(UP)—Jefferson Caffery, United States ambassador at Rio De Janeiro, reported to the state department today that the Brazilian government had advised him the revolt which broke out last night "was confined to Rio and has been completely quelled."

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 11—(UP)—Government forces fought Fascist rebels in the city streets today and besieged the Ministry of Marine as President Getulio Vargas, revolver in hand, defended himself and his family at his presidential palace.

Green shirt Fascists of the outlawed Integralista party, quietly gathered at the Ministry of Marine, the President's Guanabara palace and the dock yards in the early hours of this morning.

Part of the presidential guard joined the revolt, hoping to seize the President.

Dissident navy elements and some marines joined in the revolt. Part of the palace guard, killing their commander, tried to capture the palace.

Vargas Protects Family

Vargas, who left the army in his young manhood to go in for the law and politics, stood at a window of the palace, firing into the rebels to protect himself and members of his family, including his daughters.

The President and his family were alone in the palace, and Vargas moved from window to window, shooting, until a loyal officer arrived and joined him.

Soon military police in trucks with machine guns arrived at the palace and quickly obtained domination. They arrested 30 rebels.

Under Admiral Raul Tavares, the main rebel force fortified themselves in the Ministry of Marine. There they battled police for hours.

The government mobilized a regiment of loyal navy men and sent them, with bayoneted rifles, to the attack.

At 5 a. m. Police Chief Felinto Mueller announced that the Ministry of Marine rebels had surrendered.

HOFFMAN HUNTING AUTO, LOANED TUESDAY MORNING

Police and the sheriff's department were asked Tuesday night to conduct a search for Walter Crissinger, Jr., E. High street, who disappeared in Columbus Tuesday morning with the auto of Loring Hoffman, 336 E. Union street.

Hoffman said Crissinger rode to Columbus with him in his 1934 Ford coupe. The auto was left with Crissinger while Hoffman went on an errand. Crissinger was to meet Hoffman later but he failed to appear and was still missing Wednesday noon. No charges have been filed.

Hoffman said an outboard motor worth about $175, fishing tackle valued at $200, and a valuable camera were in his car.

ASHVILLE BOARD ELECTS HIGLEY FOR NEW TERM

Ashville, Phone 79

Carl A. Higley, superintendent of the Ashville schools, was elected for another three-year term by the Ashville board of education, which met Tuesday evening.

All present teachers were re-employed. The one vacancy, that in the sixth grade, was filled by the election of Lawrence W. Fullen of Darbyville, fifth and sixth grade teacher and high school coach there.

In addition to employment of teachers, the board voted to renew $100,000 of insurance. There was some discussion of what might be done with the old Long street school building, but no decision was reached.

Ashville Rural Schools Elect

At a meeting of the Harrison township school board, comprised of Jesse Baum, James Kuhlwein, Benford Millar, William Creager and Gardner Welch, and which board has to do with the grade schools at Duvall and So. Bloomfield, teachers were employed as follows: At South Bloomfield, Carl Drum, Margaret Dunlap, Georgia Bowers; for Duvall: Eunice Dennis, Anna Boone; teacher of music, Eliza Plum. Third, fourth and fifth grades teacher has not yet been employed.

Ashville Fire Losses Few

Losses by fire of the local insurance company have been none since April 17, when the large tool shed of Donald Courtwright was totally destroyed with its contents.

Ashville Notes of News

We'll move Dan Boone and wife again. A day or so ago we had 'em over on Scioto street, but were misinformed. They now occupy the Mrs. Ida Smith dwelling on Long street, removing from the dwelling recently purchased by Mrs. Emma Griffith. Mrs. Esther Kaufman accompanied by her two children, Dora Louise and Marilyn Ruth are here on a visit from Erlanger, Ky. Mrs. Kaufman is the daughter of Henry Morris.

Ashville Planting Goes On

Farmers, with the improved tools, have reduced the clods to soil and corn planting is moving right along without the moisture. And along the moisture line, an "old timer" farmer told us yesterday that he had a rain sign that had never failed him yet. The moon is his guide and if it doesn't rain within the three-day period of the change, there will be no rain. So we'll watch our moon and see what he knows.

Roy Cromley, just across the creek at the old Cromley homestead, when we asked him yesterday how the corn planting was coming on, said "very well" that he had only 15 acres of the 135 he is planting this year, to plant yet and it is all of the hybrid variety.

Ashville Sunday Visitors

John and Mrs. Cloud had for visitors Sunday, Floyd and Mrs. Williams, Fred Childers, Sim and Mrs. Childers all of Indianapolis and Sam Cloud of New York City. We'll tell you more about Sam very soon, maybe tomorrow.

Congressional Inquiry Into Nazi Camp Activities Seen

POSSIBLE congressional inquiry into the spread of Nazism in the United States was foreshadowed following the issuance of warrant for the arrest of six officers of the Nazi camp Siegfried at Yaphank, L. I. The warrants, sworn to by Commander Roy P. Monahan of the Disabled War Veterans of America, were issued on the strength of state legislation passed several years ago to curb activities of the Ku Klux Klan. First of the officers to be served with the state warrants was Henry Hauck, manager of the camp. Camp Siegfried is on the site of the old Camp, Upton where U. S. troops were trained during the World war. It comprises a 45-acre tract.

MORE CHILDREN RECEIVING AID FOR EYE TUMOR

CHICAGO, May 11—(UP)—Edward V. L. Brown, one of 10 scientists attempting to save at least partial vision for six-week-old Helaine Judith Colan, victim of retinal glioma, revealed today that four similar cases are under treatment at the Billings Memorial hospital.

He said the cases offered encouragement because they have shown that babies can recover from the disease even after removal of one or both eyes. The cases were being studied for comparison with the Colan baby's affliction.

Dr. Brown said he would turn over the case histories to a council of eight radiologists who will decide the next treatment for Helaine. She was reported to be resting comfortably at the Garfield Park Community hospital today. Her left eye was removed Monday to stay the advance of glioma which had threatened to take her life by spreading to the brain.

Dr. Brown said the four victims at Billings all were under three years old. Three have had one eye removed. The fourth underwent an operation six weeks ago for removal of both eyes and was reported to have recovered.

MRS. MARY COY DIES

Funeral services were held Tuesday for Mrs. Mary E. Coy, 80, who died of pneumonia at her home in Huntington township, Ross county, Saturday. She leaves a daughter, Myeta, of New Holland, and two sisters, Mrs. Dora Byran, of Williamsport, and Miss Effie Sheplett, of New Holland.

UNGER DIVORCE

Mrs. Oma Unger, Ashville, was granted a divorce in Common Pleas court, Tuesday, from Charles Anderson Unger, Ashville, for neglect of duty. Mrs. Unger was given the custody of a child and $2.50 a week for the support of the child.

Washington Township Has Eight to Graduate

The date for the Washington township senior class play, which was originally set for May 13, has been changed to May 19, due to a conflict with Grange activities.

The play is a comedy, "Sadie Gets Elected". The story of the play is built around the acting of Zeke Turner and his attitude in controlling the town of Turnerville. He is a hard-fisted old tyrant who is hated by everyone in town. The person who tames Zeke is Sadie, who comes to town to take over the editorship of the local newspaper. The events leading up to the taming of Zeke by Sadie are made very comical by the actions of Willie and Sally who carry the comedy parts in the play.

Commencement exercises will be held in the auditorium on the night of May 23 at 8 o'clock. The speaker for this occasion will be Joseph Fichter, lecturer of the state grange and professor of English at Miami university. The musical part of the entertainment will be provided by an accordion band from Columbus.

The eight members of the senior class are as follows: Gail Barthelmas, Elizabeth Goode, Ray Hanley, Bernice Leist, Harold Marshall, Jack Russell, Mary Smallwood and Shirley Waldeich. Included on the commencement program will be orations delivered by the valedictorian and the salutatorian of the senior class. The valedictorian is Elizabeth Goode with a point average of 3.6. The salutatorian is Bernice Leist.

Baccalaureate services will be held at the school auditorium on

HOW MUCH
IS THE DOWN PAYMENT

ONLY $369.92

And this is not for the lowest-priced body type, but for the big 4 door Touring Sedan! Furthermore, if your present car is of average value, it will probably cover this low down payment!

B.
HOW MUCH MORE A MONTH
THAN THE SMALLER CAR I NOW OWN

MUCH LESS THAN YOU THINK

Payments on a Packard Six usually run not over $2 to $6 a month more than those on several widely-sold smaller cars! And this is figuring on the popular 18-month basis, after minimum required down payment.

C.
HOW MUCH MORE
SMALLER CARS

LITTLE (IF ANY) MORE

And we can prove this with actual figures that show comparative costs for Packard and other cars which you may have in mind.

YOUR EYES WILL OPEN when you see the figures which prove that almost anyone who can afford any new car now can probably afford a Packard! Think of the kick you'll get out of owning a big, luxurious 122-inch wheelbase Packard Six! And remember, though the price was cut, the car itself hasn't been changed one iota! Don't buy any car till you get the facts! Come in, drive this stunning Packard—then see if any other car can please you half as much.

OBERON IN "THE LETTER"

Merle Oberon stars in a Somerset Maugham play when she comes back to the Radio Theatre on Monday, May 23. The play is "The Letter" and the setting is in the East, the Malay Peninsula, favorite locale of many Maugham plays and stories.

"The Letter" will be broadcast over the Columbia network at 8 p. m. with Cecil B. DeMille as producer. Mr. and Mrs. Carveth Wells, well known explorers, will be interviewed between the acts by DeMille and tell some interesting tales about the scene of the evening's drama.

STRANGE "CLIENT"

The mysterious "client" from New York who has been taking so much of Allan McCrae's time finally appears in the chapter "Those We Love" to be broadcast over the NBC blue network at 7:30 p. m. on Monday, May 16. The client turns out to be a woman and she comes into Allan's office late in the evening while Kathy is there to pick up her father, John Marshall.

Allan is plotting some kind of revenge on Dr. Leslie Foster for the beating he took and somehow this strange woman is mixed up in the plan. This triangle of Kathy Marshall, Dr. Foster, and Allan McCrae is narrowing down with each weekly episode of the Pond's serial with an explosion due soon.

A. HOW MUCH IS THE DOWN PAYMENT?

ONLY $369.92

And this is not for the lowest-priced body type, but for the big 4 door Touring Sedan! Furthermore, if your present car is of average value, it will probably cover this low down payment!

B. HOW MUCH MORE A MONTH THAN THE SMALLER CAR I NOW OWN?

MUCH LESS THAN YOU THINK

Payments on a Packard Six usually run not over $2 to $6 a month more than those on several widely-sold smaller cars! And this is figuring on the popular 18-months' basis, after minimum required down payment.

C. HOW MUCH MORE DOES IT COST TO RUN THAN SMALLER CARS?

LITTLE (IF ANY) MORE

YOUR EYES WILL OPEN when you see the figures which prove that almost anyone who can afford any new car now can probably afford a Packard! Think of the kick you'll get out of owning a big, luxurious 122-inch wheelbase Packard Six! And remember, though the price was cut, the car itself hasn't been changed one iota! Don't buy any car till you get the facts! Come in, drive this stunning Packard—then see if any other car can please you half as much.

WORLD SLUMP SEEN BREWING IN ARMS RACE

Neutral States Will Not Escape, Says British Economist

STEEL INDUSTRY CITED

Three-Point Program Asked
By Baster

GENEVA, May 11 — (UP) — "Neutral" states which so far have managed to remain aloof from the arms race are warned, in International Labor Office Review, that it will be impossible for them to escape its aftermath. The warning is made by A. J. S. Baster, British economist.

"The trend toward greater national self-sufficiency," he said, "and the greater risk of economic relations characteristic of a rearming world may suggest that, as international trade and capital movements become less important, 'neutral' countries that do not desire or are not obliged to enter the rearmament race will escape the effects of it, and that if and when the boom collapses only the country immediately concerned will suffer."

Baster argued that although there may be some evidence to support that view, it is doubtful whether even in the present restricted state of international trade and capital movements, national isolation from booms and slumps is secure anywhere.

Fears to Pass Frontiers

"Pessimistic views about the economic future will pass national frontiers unchecked, to influence business men's decisions on both sides," he said. "More important, over-investment in any part of the world's economic system will cause the other parts to become adapted to it, so long as there is any international trade at all. It is easy to see, for instance, that the American steel industry may be 'overbuilt' in consequence of orders connected directly or indirectly with European rearmament, but there may be less obvious cases of other industries whose increased exports to Europe set free resources there for armaments making. Thus expansions and contractions in all international trading countries are linked, whatever the exchange system. Isolation from the international repercussions of rearmament or disarmament is an illusion."

The chief danger ahead, Baster believes, is that of a top-heavy structure of production in which the distribution of real resources between capital goods industries and consumption goods industries, will fail to correspond to the distribution of the stream of money income between saving and spending. Although in some cases readjustment may not be postponed indefinitely, most countries will have to deal with the inevitable recession when it comes, he argues.

Three-Point Program Urged

"The most hopeful beginning and the most hopeful guarantee for the success of a recovery policy anywhere," he said, "would be an effective armaments truce or armaments convention containing economic clauses embodying international agreement." The agreement would aim at three main results: the liberation and expansion of international trade to facilitate diversion of war plants to peacetime production; a plain statement of national policy by the principal economic countries, and an exchange of information among them.

"The alternatives," he concluded, "to an armaments truce and some international economic understanding such as suggested are plain. Either rearmament will have its natural consequence in a world war, precipitated perhaps by the economic breakdown of one of the competitors, or the burden of armaments expenditure will become so intolerable in the poorer countries as to produce widespread hardship, with incalculable political consequences."

EARHART MAY FILE SUIT AGAINST DUFFY PROBE

COLUMBUS, May 11—(UP)—Attorney General Herbert B. Duffy's grand jury investigation of assessments on state employees' salaries to finance Gov. Martin L. Davey's campaign was threatened with a legal attack today by the governor's forces.

Daniel S. Earhart, attorney in the tax commission, against whom an affidavit of solicitation of a civil service worker was filed, precipitating the inquiry, challenged legality of the grand jury in a letter to Duffy.

He indicated he might file a taxpayer's suit to recover costs incurred during the session of the grand jury, holding that it is without authority.

Wilmington Alumnus

The new coach is an alumnus of Wilmington college. He is married, has no children, and is a Methodist. He is 43.

During his coaching career, Mr. Black has added to his knowledge of athletics by attending two of the outstanding coaching schools in the country. He has 90 hours of work in the Bucknell university, Lewisburg, Pa., school, coached by the late Knute K. Rockne of Notre Dame and Dr. Walter Meanwell of Wisconsin. He studied three semester hours with Noble Kizer and Ward Lambert, Purdue football and basketball coach, at Old Post Coach School, Vincennes, Ind.

Coach Jack Landrum did not apply for re-election after serving his third year as athletic director, preparing to enter Boy Scout work professionally.

Members of the board of education interviewed candidates from many parts of Ohio. One former Iowa conference athlete was an applicant. Board members include Charles H. May, Lawrence Goeller, C. R. Barnhart, Mrs. Howard B. Moore and Dr. G. D. Phillips.

BLAST CLIMBS NEAR 100

CHESTERFIELD, England, May 11—(UP)—The death toll from a series of explosions in the Markham colliery of the Staveley Coal and Iron company was reported unofficially today to have reached 93.

Seventy-nine were known dead in latest official reports, and more than 20 injured seriously. Fourteen others were missing and feared dead.

The disaster was the worst in British mining since Sept. 22, 1934, when 265 miners were killed at the Freford colliery in Wrexham. Rescue workers reported some of the victims were found huddled in heaps, their clothes torn off by the force of the blasts which sent flames roaring through the workings.

BRAZIL'S ARMY BREAKS REVOLT

shooting fire arms in an attempt to confuse the authorities.

But the government quickly organized its defense.

Military police had heard the firing, which first started at the palace.

They sent reinforcements, armed with machine guns, who posted themselves in streets around the palace, built barricades, and opened fire, clearing nearby streets.

Lins De Barros had organized the defense of the palace himself while Vargas held his post at windows.

President Leads Sortie

As the sound of loyal firing came from outside, the President, ordering the women of his family to remain in places of safety, led a sortie from the palace, revolver in hand, and after aiding his men to drive the rebels from the grounds joined in their pursuit through the streets.

The rebels were well organized. While some of them defended their strong points and others went firing through the streets, a mysterious radio station broadcast alarmist reports including a statement that the government had been overthrown and a military junta or governing committee of rebels constituted.

In the early phase of the fighting, the rebels succeeded in destroying a part of the telephone plant serving the presidential palace. This handicapped communications and added to the confusion.

The first signal for the fighting at the dock yards was given by two sentries. They heard three whistles, followed by a series of shots.

Military and municipal police rushed to strategic points of the city and soon they were stopping and searching all cars.

Hundreds of persons, many of them marines, were arrested.

Many navy men took part. None of those on the warships in the port adhered, but some sailors and marines who arrived by train from the suburbs were arrested as a precautionary measure.

JUDGES SQUASHES ACTION CITING PENSIONS CHIEF

LANCASTER, May 11—Miss Josephine Justus, former Fairfield county old age pension administrator and Democratic committee-woman of the 11th Congressional district, was freed of any prosecution on an indictment returned against her April 13, when Judge Frank M. Acton sustained a motion to quash.

Miss Justus was originally charged with perjury. The grand jury reduced the charge to a misdemeanor. The charge was filed against Miss Justus by William Fink, who alleged she asked an old age pension for her father, March 5, 1935 which was granted May 17, 1935. Miss Justus at the time alleged she was unable to support her father, but the charge contended she had property valued at nearly $20,000.

The indictment was attacked on the statute of limitations, which requires prosecution of a misdemeanor to be started before three years elapse from the time the alleged offense was committed.

Some people think it's the politicians that spoil everything, and some think it's the business men, and some think it's the sunspots.

coaching at Urbana he had only one losing season, that in 1936.

Wilmington Alumnus
The new coach is an alumnus of Wilmington college. He is married, has no children, and is a Methodist. He is 43.
During his coaching career, Mr. Black has added to his knowledge of athletics by attending two of the outstanding coaching schools in the country. He has 90 hours of work in the Bucknell university, Lewisburg, Pa., school, coached by the late Knute K. Rockne of Notre Dame and Dr. Walter Meanwell of Wisconsin. He studied three semester hours with Noble Kizer and Ward Lambert, Purdue football and basketball coach, at Old Post Coach School, Vincennes, Ind.

Coach Jack Landrum did not apply for re-election after serving his third year as athletic director, preparing to enter Boy Scout work professionally.

Members of the board of education interviewed candidates from many parts of Ohio. One former Iowa conference athlete was an applicant. Board members include Charles H. May, Lawrence Goeller, C. R. Barnhart, Mrs. Howard B. Moore and Dr. G. D. Phillips.

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—The house today approved the conference report on the $1,156,000,000 naval expansion bill providing for a vast increase in the fighting strength of the U. S. navy.

TOLL OF DEATHS IN MINE BLAST CLIMBS NEAR 100

CHESTERFIELD, England, May 11—(UP)—The death toll from a series of explosions in the Markham colliery of the Staveley Coal and Iron company was reported unofficially today to have reached 93.

Seventy-nine were known dead in latest official reports, and more than 20 injured seriously. Fourteen others were missing and feared dead.

The disaster was the worst in British mining since Sept. 22, 1934, when 265 miners were killed at the Freford colliery in Wrexham. Rescue workers reported some of the victims were found huddled in heaps, their clothes torn off by the force of the blasts which sent flames roaring through the workings.

CABBAGE, RICE RECEIVED

Seven thousand pounds of cabbage and 5,000 pounds of rice were received this week at the county relief headquarters. Distribution of the surplus commodities to city clients will be held Friday.

I can't take the stand and tell this."

Deuber Cable was questioned by Police Chief Ira Manderbaugh, Prosecutor Barthelme and detectives today after Miss Ludwig's note had been delivered to them. He was held "for investigation" in the city jail.

The suicide note, as revealed by Prosecuting Attorney A. C. L. Barthelme today, charged that Mrs. Cable's slayer were from Cleveland and that they received $200 for the murder.

Miss Ludwig's note named the person who allegedly hired the killers.

Both Miss Ludwig and Mrs. Cable's husband were questioned by Canton police more than a year ago during the murder investigation but both were released subsequently.

KIDNAPING ANGLE HEARD AS CHILD, 4, IS MISSING

BRADFORD, Pa., May 11—(UP)—The search for four-year-old Marjory West, who disappeared Sunday during a Mother's day outing with her family, embraced three states today as the possibility arose that the child might have been kidnapped.

The hunt was spurred by reports that an automobile bearing Pennsylvania license in which a man and a young girl resembling the missing child were riding had been seen in Thomas, W. Va.

Acting on this slender clue, police asked authorities in West Virginia, Ohio, and Pennsylvania to be on the lookout for the suspected automobile.

COUNTY SCHOOLS SEND 134 PUPILS TO CLINIC

One hundred and thirty-four pupils of county schools will come to Circleville from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. Thursday for a clinic to be conducted in connection with the anti-tuberculosis campaign.

These pupils will be given thorough chest examinations and X-rays will be read by three specialists of tuberculosis sanatoria. The pupils were given X-rays after skin tests they took were positive. Few active cases are expected to be found.

On May 19 a similar clinic will be conducted for 80 Circleville school children.

STYLE WHIMISIES

Wine tones and copper rust are favorite accessory colors for wear with beige and French blues.

Among the Summer dark skirts a popular model is of black rayon faille alpaca pleated all around, with a slide-fastening closing.

The very newest wrinkle for beach and sports wear is the yellow burlap boxy jacket with fish buttons, lined with oil silk. The pastel burlap jacket is another version of this type of beach coat.

A new version of the vogue for silk is the black moire suit, very effectively worn with a veiled white straw hat.

shooting fire arms in an attempt to confuse the authorities.

But the government quickly organized its defense.

Military police had heard the firing, which first started at the palace.

They sent reinforcements, armed with machine guns, who posted themselves in streets around the palace, built barricades, and opened fire, clearing nearby streets.

Lins De Barros had organized the defense of the palace himself while Vargas held his post at windows.

President Leads Sortie

As the sound of loyal firing came from outside, the President, ordering the women of his family to remain in places of safety, led a sortie from the palace, revolver in hand, and after aiding his men to drive the rebels from the grounds joined in their pursuit through the streets.

The rebels were well organized. While some of them defended their strong points and others went firing through the streets, a mysterious radio station broadcast alarmist reports including a statement that the government had been overthrown and a military junta or governing committee of rebels constituted.

In the early phase of the fighting, the rebels succeeded in destroying a part of the telephone plant serving the presidential palace. This handicapped communications and added to the confusion.

The first signal for the fighting at the dock yards was given by two sentries. They heard three whistles, followed by a series of shots.

Military and municipal police rushed to strategic points of the city and soon they were stopping and searching all cars.

Hundreds of persons, many of them marines, were arrested.

Many navy men took part. None of those on the warships in the port adhered, but some sailors and marines who arrived by train from the suburbs were arrested as a precautionary measure.

JUDGES SQUASHES ACTION CITING PENSIONS CHIEF

LANCASTER, May 11—Miss Josephine Justus, former Fairfield county old age pension administrator and Democratic committeewoman of the 11th Congressional district, was freed of any prosecution on an indictment returned against her April 13, when Judge Frank M. Acton sustained a motion to quash.

Miss Justus was originally charged with perjury. The grand jury reduced the charge to a misdemeanor. The charge was filed against Miss Justus by William Fink, who alleged she asked an old age pension for her father, March 5, 1935 which was granted May 17, 1935. Miss Justus at the time alleged she was unable to support her father, but the charge contends she had property valued at nearly $20,000.

The indictment was attacked on the statute of limitations, which requires prosecution of a misdemeanor be started before three years elapse from the time the alleged offense was committed.

INDUSTRIAL PEACE-SEEKER

MYRON C. TAYLOR, who retired as chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, plans to devote much of his new leisure to the study and promotion of industrial peace and the solution of other management problems.

Mr. Taylor says he has become interested in this task because of experiences of the last few years. He has seen government, business and labor working at cross purposes occasionally and warring among themselves, when the times and situations have needed the closest understanding and cooperation. He believes that a solution is essential and can be found. He intends to do what he can to find it. He is encouraged in this view by the peaceful relations which the United States Steel Corporation has enjoyed with labor since it entered into a contract with the S. W. O. C. in 1937.

JONES COUP BOOMERANG?

WASHINGTON — REChairman Jesse Jones may have bitten off more than he bargained for when he put over his $1,500,000,000 loans-to-industry coup.

It will be recalled that Jesse jammed this measure through Congress when he got word that Secretary Morgenthau and SEChairman Douglas were proposing a system of regional government credit banks to provide small business men with much needed capital.

Ever since 1935 the RFC had had the power to lend up to $300,000,000 to small business, but all that time had loaned out only around $100,000,000—this despite the recession.

Since then, Jesse has galvanized into action, for two very good reasons. One was to keep the RFC, and himself, in the forefront as a potent agency; two, to keep a tight grip on the tap of government spending.

With his eye on the White House in 1940, Jesse has been quietly booming himself in big business and banking circles as an economizer and "Jeffersonian" Democrat. But in this strategy he overlooked one thing.

When the $1,500,000,000 loans-to-industry bill was enacted, it was widely touted as a great boon to little businessmen. Both the President and Jesse acclaimed it as a major feature of the Administration's recovery program. These assurances have been taken seriously, and now by the thousands from all parts of the country, applications for a slice of that effusively publicized melon have been flooding the RFC.

TIGHT-FISTED JESSE

But Jesse is not dishing out. He is being just as tight-fisted with the $1,500,000,000 as he was with the $300,000,000 fund. And just as secretive.

Repeated efforts to find out how many loans he has granted are met with stony silence. Jesse won't even make public the number of applications he has received. It can be stated positively, however, that they run into the many thousands. More than 5,000 have been filed in New York alone.

Best inside information is that no more than $15,000,000 so far has been earmarked.

While succeeding in his purpose to hold down government spending, Jesse is getting himself very badly in Dutch on his presidential ambitions. Little businessmen, unable to get the government credit so glibly promised them, are bombarding their Congressmen with hot denunciations of Jesse and demanding his scalp.

It is not unlikely that before the session closes the matter will be aired on Capitol Hill in a manner that will do Jesse's burning White House hopes no good.

Popular Beliefs About Tuberculosis Corrected

Once a week in this column will be printed a discussion of a medical superstition. Readers are invited to contribute.

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
"THERE PROBABLY is no disease around which so many misleading statements have been made as about tuberculosis," says Dr. Bernard Hudson in the British Journal of Tuberculosis. He instances the following false proverbs:

"The blood comes from the back of the throat." Patients who have spit blood are told this two or three times with the idea that it will cheer them up and, of course, sometimes the blood does come from the back of the throat, but by far the most common cause of blood spitting is tuberculosis of the lungs, even though it may be in a very early stage and capable of cure.

"You should be cured in the place where you will have to live." This has a superficial air of common sense, but it is easy to see that the patient should be placed in those circumstances where healing can best take place. By "healing" is meant the formation of fibrous tissue and the shutting off of the diseased areas of the lung. There is no reason why a lung that has been healed in one part of the world should break down when a patient returns to another. Of course, it is true that people go to climates, such as Colorado, and "I suppose I'll have to pay the Montoyas and leave," she went on, "and of course I'm glad to pay them. And pay you for your plane, and—"

"Whoa up, Miss—Daggs!" Bill halted her. "I warn you, if you offer to pay the Montoyas, they will be insulted. Don't dare try it. And as for the plane—no. I contracted to pilot you somewhere, and didn't; I still owe you."

"Was your plane insured?" he grinned. "They don't insure 'em."

"Have you—a business? I don't know anything about you, really, you know. Except that you are a gentleman."

He blushed and looked pleased. Or maybe the blush was one of embarrassment.

"I'll get along," he hedged. "No, I don't have a business. I, uh, I'm a—cowboy, I reckon. I live on a ranch out of San Antonio. My folks, I mean."

She let it go at that. She was thinking of something else anyway. She remained quiet for a while, and he did not break her reverie.

"I was about to build a house in Hollywood," she said at last.

"Yes. The usual thing—a sort of—mansion. Swimming pool, and—and—a big lawn, and servants and all. It was what I used to dream of at the 10-cent store. You know what I mean. Well, at last I could afford it. Do you think I am silly, Mr. Baron?"

"No! Why shouldn't you build a fine home? All stars do."

"But I don't want to! Not now, I mean."

He waited. After all, this was another woman, he told himself, laconically.

"I mean, I want to stay here, Mr. Baron! Don't you see? I do! This is—real. Haven't you seen how the Montoyas live? How beautiful the hills and the ranch-house? And the music last evening around the living room fire—a home!"

"No! No, I am not," she said, surprisingly. "My real name, Mr. Baron, happens to be Daggs, not Dale. The publicity department changed it to Dale and I liked it then. I feel more like Ellen Daggs, down here."

World At A Glance

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

If the people of the United States realized how their capital city is being hashed up to make more room for automobiles to circulate there would be a revolution.

No. At a second thought the hashery probably would be only hastened, because so large a proportion of Americans are auto owners that an overwhelming majority presumably would be sympathetic toward any program to facilitate operation of their Washington brethren's flivvers.

The sacrifice of the city's beauty OUGHT to breed a revolution, however.

ONCE—GREAT TREES

When I first saw our capital, about 25 years ago, it perhaps was the loveliest of the world's sizable municipalities.

Its trees were wonderful. Giant elms, maples and oaks lined all its streets, even in most of the business section. They were a century or more old—an urban paradise, the creation of three or four generations.

Approximately a dozen years back this forest began to be offensive to autoists. Ever since then they have been whittling away at it.

CUTTING THE TREES

Of course the trees grew along curb lines. Between the rows was (then) a reasonable amount of room for vehicular traffic. On each side was a broad footway for that now nearly extinct species, the pedestrian.

With the spread of the automotive epidemic there began to be a demand for a trimming off of the edges of these footways, to make additional space in the middle for the navigation of the cursed autos. True, it was at the pedestrians' expense—but who, today cares a hoot for pedestrian rights?

Never mind the pedestrian!—he's a short-lived chap, anyway. But the amputation of thousands of century-or-more-old trees presented itself as an urgent necessity, to furnish increased vehicular space between the lines of them.

ONE AVENUE AFTER ANOTHER

District of Columbia authority went to work on the job. It soon had the downtown streets as denuded of foliage as Broadway.

Then it started on the thoroughfares out in the outskirts. Soon it has made such a heavenly bower as Connecticut avenue into a white-hot (in mid-summer) path-way as was Washington's shopping center, F street—previously denuded of leafage.

There was a campaign to deforest Sixteenth street (the Avenue of the Presidents). That DID start a "holler."

"Well," suggested the vandals, "suppose we cut the trees off only on the vehicular sides of the road, leaving the remaining branches to continue shading the sidewalks."

In other words, two rows of half-trees!

The vandals haven't succeeded in getting away with it yet, but they are still arguing.

AND A TUNNEL!

Historic Dupont Circle is attacked, too.

The autoists haven't quite the nerve to ask to run their "cans" across it, but they do insist on a tunnel underneath.

Imagine Dupont Circle, undermined by a tunnel!

NOTHING SAFE

Vandalism is as remorseless in attacking historic buildings as in attacking anything else.

One might think that there would be inclination to preserve Commodore Decatur's old Washington home at Jackson and H streets. There is such an inclination, too, but a vigorous fight is involved to do it.

Opposite the Capitol there was an old structure in which congress met after the burning of the original capitol by the British, during the 1812 invasion. Wouldn't one think that this should have been preserved as a national monument?

Not so. Congress unceremoniously had it yanked down a few years ago, to make room for the new supreme court building.

STOPPED BY A THREAT

The Women's National party had occupied it.

The party had to move out, to make room for the supreme court. The party moved around the corner to another historic shack. Shortly congress decided that it would like this new site for the benefit of the General Accounting office.

A Woman's National party committee called on the congressional committee to discuss the question. "You've moved us once," said the women. "Move us again and see what happens—at the polls, next time."

The Women's National party has not been evicted.

JONES COUP BOOMERANG?

WASHINGTON — REChairman Jesse Jones may have bitten off more than he bargained for when he put over his $1,500,000,000 loans-to-industry coup.

It will be recalled that Jesse jammed this measure through Congress when he got word that Secretary Morgenthau and SEChairman Douglas were proposing a system of regional government credit banks to provide small business men with much needed capital.

Ever since 1935 the RFC had had the power to lend up to $300,000,000 to small business, but all that time had loaned out only around $100,000,000—this despite the recession.

Since then, Jesse has galvanized into action, for two very good reasons. One was to keep the RFC, and himself, in the forefront as a potent agency; two, to keep a tight grip on the tap of government spending.

With his eye on the White House in 1940, Jesse has been quietly booming himself in big business and banking circles as an economizer and "Jeffersonian" Democrat.
But in this strategy he overlooked one thing.

When the $1,500,000,000 loans-to-industry bill was enacted, it was widely touted as a great boon to little businessmen. Both the President and Jesse acclaimed it as a major feature of the Administration's recovery program. These assurances have been taken seriously, and now by the thousands from all parts of the country, applications for a slice of that effusively publicized melon have been flooding the RFC.

TIGHT-FISTED JESSE

But Jesse is not dishing out. He is being just as tight-fisted with the $1,500,000,000 as he was with the $300,000,000 fund. And just as secretive.

Repeated efforts to find out how many loans he has granted are met with stony silence. Jesse won't even make public the number of applications he has received.
It can be stated positively, however,
that they run into the many thousands.
More than 5,000 have been filed in New York alone.

Best inside information is that no more than $15,000,000 so far has been earmarked.

While succeeding in his purpose to hold down government spending, Jesse is getting himself very badly in Dutch on his presidential ambitions. Little businessmen, unable to get the government credit so glibly promised them, are bombarding their Congressmen with hot denunciations of Jesse and demanding his scalp.

It is not unlikely that before the session closes the matter will be aired on Capitol Hill in a manner that will do Jesse's burning White House hopes no good.

Popular Beliefs About Tuberculosis Corrected

Once a week in this column will be printed a discussion of a medical superstition. Readers are invited to contribute.

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

"THERE PROBABLY is no disease around which so many misleading statements have been made as about tuberculosis," says Dr.
Bernard Hudson in the British Journal of Tuberculosis. He instances the following false proverbs:

"The blood comes from the back of the throat." Patients who have spit blood are told this two or three times with the idea that it will cheer them up and, of course, sometimes the blood does come from the back of the throat, but by far the most common cause of blood spitting is tuberculosis of the lungs, even though it may be in a very early stage and capable of cure.

"You should be cured in the place where you will have to live."
This has a superficial air of common sense, but it is easy to see that the patient should be placed in those circumstances where healing can best take place. By "healing" is meant the formation of fibrous tissue and the shutting off of the diseased areas of the lung.
There is no reason why a lung that has been healed in one part of the world should break down when a patient returns to another. Of course, it is true that people go to climates, such as Colorado, and

Dr. Clendening will answer his column.

make a very rapid apparent recovery.
They do not realize that their cure is not complete, and when they do return to their own homes

they are likely to break down again.

Not True of Towns

"You can be cured just as well on a balcony at home as in a climate." If this applies to large industrial towns as well as country places, it is not true. The smoke-laden air of towns can hardly be compared with the pure, thin, invigorating air of a mountain climate. Economic considerations enter in, and it should be said that with rest and a nourishing diet there is hope for recovery anywhere, even though it be not an ideal climate.

"You should not go to an altitude if you have a weak heart." Young people, even with organic heart disease, do not suffer in a high altitude. I have known many patients who have gone to an altitude of over 3,000 feet in fear and trembling and have been amazed to find that they have become stronger and better in every way, even though they are supposed to have heart disease.

"You ought to go and sit about in the sun." People with tuberculosis of the lungs are frequently told that if they go to some sunny part of the world and lie about in the sun, they will soon be all right again. In some cases of tuberculosis, localized in the bones or joints, sunlight is beneficial, but in tuberculosis of the lungs, it is the general experience that sunlight does more harm than good.

FIESTA

BY OREN ARNOLD
RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:

Having saved the life of Ellen Dale, screen star, with a lucky parachute jump after his plane had run out of fuel in a terrific storm, Bill Baron and his lone passenger finally arrive at a ranch house across the Mexican border, inhabited but fatigued. Here they are warmly received by Don Julio Montoya, wealthy Mexican, and extended very courtesy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

CHAPTER 3

ELLEN DALE was a trifle bleary-eyed at breakfast next morning. She had done considerable crying, mainly because she was a somewhat lonely little girl in spite of her amazing screen career. You can't exist on $15 a week until you are 19, be suddenly snatched to fortune and fame, without having something drastic done to your emotions.
And you can't have an extremely adventurous escape from death without changing still more. A human soul is as impressionable as a human body, or more so.

Ellen's had responded to shock in a manner that would have surprised and alarmed her Hollywood producers and press agents. The song-and-dance lady? The pepand-personality girl? Cinema's darling? America would never have recognized her this morning, down here in old Mexico. Except for her costume, she looked more like a tired little college co-ed, who had been out too late at a junior prom and eaten too many olives.

But while crying Ellen had done a deal of thinking, too. The terror of that moment in the clouds, when Bill Baron had jerked her out of the plane, repeatedly came back to her. And the subsequent black, blinding walk in the cold rain. Her very spirit seemed to have frozen there, and even though it thawed under the warm hospitality of the Montoyas, she knew she would never be quite the same. You can't meet Death face to face and come away feeling blasé and saucy.
Ellen knew, somehow, that her career as a dancing girl had come to an end.

"Well, shall we make plans this morning?" Bill Baron rumbled at her after breakfast. His voice always seemed to boom from some great depth. "Do you feel sufficiently rested now?"

She did not match his bright mood. She did not even smile. "I suppose so," she answered.

He stared down at her.
"You will want me to arrange transportation on to California, I presume. Probably we can hire an automobile. We are in Sonora, you know, about 50 miles south of the Arizona line. I will go as far as Tucson with you, then head back for San Antonio."

The girl did not answer. She was gazing abstractly out a window. He waited a full minute in silence.

"Anything wrong?" he asked,
gently.

She turned to smile at him then, slowly. "No. It's all right, Mr.
Baron. Thank you very much.
You are very kind, kinder than any man has ever been to me before. I'll never forget it. But—I was just thinking. I—"

She paused again, and he waited.
"I am not sure that I want to leave, I mean." She looked up at him. Bill thought she looked awfully little then; little and wistful.
He caught the full innocence of the violet eyes that had thrilled American movie fans for nearly three years. His face was sober now.

"I don't blame you," he drawled.
"I think I understand. Did you know Senor Montoya prayed for us that night? He and the people gave thanks, about—about us being saved. I couldn't—it—"

The lump came back in Bill's throat. He felt like a teen-age boy, floundering; and he looked somewhat like Ellen. Ellen studied his face then looked away.
"But you are Ellen Dale," he reminded. "There's Hollywood, and—"

"No! No, I am not," she said, surprisingly. "My real name, Mr.
Baron, happens to be Daggs, not Dale. The publicity department changed it to Dale and I liked it then. I feel more like Ellen Daggs, down here."

He considered that, with genuine

He stared down at her.

surprise. Dale was an improvement, he decided.

"I suppose I'll have to pay the Montoyas and leave," she went on,
"and of course I'm glad to pay them. And pay you for your plane,
and—"

"Whoa up, Miss—Daggs!" Bill halted her. "I warn you, if you offer to pay the Montoyas, they will be insulted. Don't dare try it.
And as for the plane—no. I contracted to pilot you somewhere, and didn't; I still owe you."

"Was your plane insured?"

He grinned. "They don't insure 'em."

"Have you—a business? I don't know anything about you, really, you know. Except that you are a gentleman."

He blushed and looked pleased.
Or maybe the blush was one of embarrassment.

"I'll get along," he hedged. "No,
I don't have a business. I, uh, I'm a—cowboy, I reckon. I live on a ranch out of San Antonio. My folks, I mean."

She let it go at that. She was thinking of something else anyway. She remained quiet for a while, and he did not break her reverie.

"I was about to build a house in Hollywood," she said at last.
"Yes?"

"Yes. The usual thing—a sort of—mansion. Swimming pool, and—and a big lawn, and servants and all. It was what I used to dream of at the 10-cent store.
You know what I mean. Well, at last I could afford it. Do you think I am silly, Mr. Baron?"

"No! Why shouldn't you build a fine home? All stars do."

"But I don't want to! Not now,
I mean."

He waited. After all, this was another woman, he told himself, laconically.

"I mean, I don't want to stay here,
Mr. Baron! Don't you see? I do!
This is real. Haven't you seen how the Montoyas live? How beautiful the hills and the ranch-house? And the music last evening around the living room fire—a home!"

Bill stared at her. No, she was not acting. He nodded. Well, Ellen Dale—Daggs—was not the first American to come under the spell of old Mexico. These Latins have something—a charm all their own. There is much trouble in this southern republic, but there is much of beauty too. He hummed a little tune for a few seconds, then—

"Why don't you stay, then?" he asked. "Give up Hollywood."

"Oh, could I?" she turned and grabbed his arm.

He was taken aback by her sudden enthusiasm.

"Why—why sure! Why not?"
"Could I have a ranch? Like this? Oh Mr. Baron! I have some money. I think it's about half a million. Is that enough? Is it?"

The big Texan was very serious
now. He had suddenly glimpsed again the verve and energy of Ellen Dale the personality girl, but off the screen, a sweet little kid who wanted desperately to cling to something beautiful, something without any horror of poverty or any leering sham. And suddenly Bill knew that he wanted her to have it, too.

He stood there thinking. A ranch! Certainly she could buy it.
He would help her. After all,
he owed her something; he had almost taken her life in that storm.
But Mexico—

"It's enough money," he said.
"More than enough. But buy your ranch on American soil. Hell pops down here in Mexico, ever so often.
Political, even military hell. The same charm exists over the border in Arizona without the danger; the same or better scenery, the same customs, even the same language on many ranches. Arizona once belonged to Mexico, you know."

Ellen didn't answer. She was staring at distant mountains, looming in the morning sun like the backdrop of some gigantic stage. Bill also was thinking now. A ranch. He didn't know of one for sale, but he could ask Montoya and—

Their thoughts were interrupted.
Panola Montoya came into the dining room and saw the two Americans standing by the big east window.

"O-o-o-oh!" she almost tinkled it. "Here you are, senor! I have look and look for you. Los caballos—I mean, the horses, they are exhausted. You well come and ride with me, no?"

To cover the unwarranted affront to Ellen, Bill quickly allowed himself to be led outside.
Ellen watched them, a picturesque couple, as they rode out of sight over the semi-desert terrain.

World At A Glance

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

If the people of the United States realized how their capital city is being hashed up to make more room for automobiles to circulate there would be a revolution.

No. At a second thought the hashery probably would be only hastened, because so large a proportion of Americans are auto owners that an overwhelming majority presumably would be sympathetic toward any program to facilitate operation of their Washington brethren's flivvers.

ought to breed a revolution, however.

ONCE—GREAT TREES

When I first saw our capital, about 25 years ago, it perhaps was the loveliest of the world's sizable municipalities.

Its trees were wonderful. Giant elms, maples and oaks lined all its streets, even in most of the business section. They were a century or more old—an urban paradise, the creation of three or four generations.

Approximately a dozen years back this forest began to be offensive to autoists. Ever since then they have been whittling away at it.

CUTTING THE TREES

Of course the trees grew along curb lines. Between the rows was (then) a reasonable amount of room for vehicular traffic. On each side was a broad footway for that now nearly extinct species, the pedestrian.

With the spread of the automotive epidemic there began to be a demand for a trimming off of the edges of these footways, to make additional space in the middle for the navigation of the cursed autos.

True, it was at the pedestrians' expense—but who, today cares a hoot for pedestrian rights?

Never mind the pedestrian!—
he's a short-lived chap, anyway.
But the amputation of thousands of century-or-more-old trees presented itself as an urgent necessity, to furnish increased vehicular space between the lines of them.

ONE AVENUE AFTER ANOTHER

District of Columbia authority went to work on the job.

It soon had the down-town streets as denuded of foliage as Broadway.

Then it started on the thoroughfares out in the outskirts. Soon it has made such a heavenly bower as Connecticut avenue into a white-hot (in mid-summer) pathway as was Washington's shopping center, F street—previously denuded of leafage.

There was a campaign to deforest Sixteenth street (the Avenue of the Presidents). That DID start a "holler".

"Well," suggested the vandals,
"suppose we cut the trees off only on the vehicular sides of the road, leaving the remaining branches to continue shading the sidewalks."

In other words, two rows of half-trees!

AND A TUNNEL!—
Historic Dupont Circle is attacked, too.

The autoists haven't quite the nerve to ask to run their "cans"

across it, but they do insist on a tunnel underneath.

Imagine Dupont Circle, under-

Nothing safe
Vandalism is as remorseless in attacking historic buildings as in attacking anything else.

One might think that there would be inclination to preserve Commodore Decatur's old Washington home at Jackson and H streets. There is such an inclination, too, but a vigorous fight is involved to do it.

Opposite the Capitol there was an old structure in which congress met after the burning of the original capitol by the British, during the 1812 invasion. Wouldn't one think that this should have been preserved as a national monument?

Not so. Congress unceremoniously had it yanked down a few years ago, to make room for the new supreme court building.

STOPPED BY A THREAT

The Women's National party had occupied it.

Their party had to move out,
to make room for the supreme court.
The party moved around the corner to another historic shack.
Shortly congress decided that it

Junior Girl Reserves Entertain for Mothers

60 Members and Guests Attend Dinner

Spring flowers including masses of roses and irises were used in the decoration of the social room of the high school Tuesday evening when the Junior Girl Reserves entertained at the annual Mothers' banquet. Sixty members and guests were seated for the dinner served at 6:30 o'clock, at the tables centered with bowls of Spring flowers.

One of the outstanding features of the banquet was the presentation of Girl Reserve rings for achievement to seven of the girls including Marilyn Lutz, president, Betty Cooper, vice president, Jean Kinney, secretary, Mary Jane Bowers, treasurer, Pollyanna Friedman, Regina Thornton, and Barbara Johnson. Blue and white, the Girl Reserve colors, were used in the party appointments, and each mother was presented a dainty nosegay. Patty Bennett, Joanne Conyers and Bonita Hulse presented instrumental musical numbers. Marilyn Lutz gave the address of welcome, with her mother, Mrs. Marion Lutz, responding on behalf of the mothers.

The committee for decoration was Mary Fickard, Barbara Johnson, Mary Schreiner, Joanne Downing and Marilyn Lutz.

Place Cards: Mary Adele Snider, Sally Shafer, Jane Klingensmith, and Peggy Goeller.

Corsages: Miss Muriel Sayre, Bonita Hulse, and Patty Bennett.

You-Go-I-Go Club

Mrs. Marvin Dreisbach, Miss Mary Conner and Mrs. Miller were entertained in addition to seven members of the You-Go-I-Go sewing club, Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Eva Dresbach, W. High street.

The afternoon was passed in sewing and planning for a covered dish dinner for the next meeting of the society. The hostess served candy during the pleasant hours.

Yo-Yo Club

Baskets of Spring flowers were used in decorating the rooms of the home Tuesday evening when Mrs. Clyde White, W. Mill street, entertained the Yo-Yo club.

All members were present and Mrs. Ida Conley of Grandview was an additional guest. Lunch was served at the conclusion of the evening of sewing and social visiting. A color theme of green and white was carried out in the party appointments. Mrs. Lydia Ruffie will entertain the club in two weeks at her home in E. Main street.

87th Birthday Anniversary

Mrs. Ellen LaMaster of E. Franklin street, who observed her 87th birthday quietly May 7 at her home, was the recipient of a post card shower. Cards were received from friends in Columbus, Erie, Pa., Washington D. C., Jamaica, N. Y., Warren and Mt. Sterling.

Luther League Banquet

Miss Eleanor Westenhaver and Miss Marvina Ruffie are co-chairmen for the Luther League Parents' banquet which will be held in the parish house, Tuesday evening, at 6:30 o'clock. Members are requested to make reservations as soon as possible.

Loyal Daughters' Class

Mrs. Ira Valentine was elected president of the Loyal Daughters' class of the United Brethren church, Tuesday evening, at the home of Mrs. Frank Hawkes. Other officers chosen during the business hour conducted by Mrs. Russell Jones, president, were Mrs. Dancy, vice president; Mrs. J. M. Jones, secretary; Mrs. Carl Porter, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Hurd, chorister; Mrs. Hazel Johnson, pianist.

The devotional service was in charge of Mrs. John Kerns.

During the social hour, lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants including Mrs. Alice Harrison, Mrs. Samuel Wolford, Mrs. Harry Radcliffe and Mrs. Hurd.

Sunday Guests

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Brower of Lima returned her mother, Mrs. Sophia Sawyer, to her home in E. Ohio street Sunday. Mrs. Sawyer had spent the winter with them. Other guests of Mrs. Sawyer on Mother's Day were Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Dindore and children of Lancaster; Dr. T. D. Sawyer and

Junior Girl Reserves Entertain for Mothers

Spring flowers including masses of roses and irises were used in the decoration of the social room of the high school Tuesday evening when the Junior Girl Reserves entertained at the annual Mothers' banquet. Sixty members and guests were seated for the dinner served at 6:30 o'clock, at the tables centered with bowls of Spring flowers.

One of the outstanding features of the banquet was the presentation of Girl Reserve rings for achievement to seven of the girls including Marilyn Lutz, president, Betty Cooper, vice president, Jean Kinney, secretary, Mary Jane Bowers, treasurer, Pollyanna Friedman, Regina Thornton, and Barbara Johnson. Blue and white, the Girl Reserve colors, were used in the party appointments, and each mother was presented a dainty nosegay. Patty Bennett, Joanne Conyers and Bonita Hulse presented instrumental musical numbers. Marilyn Lutz gave the address of welcome, with her mother, Mrs. Marion Lutz, responding on behalf of the mothers.

The committee for decoration was Mary Fickard, Barbara Johnson, Mary Schneider, Joanne Downing and Marilyn Lutz.

Place Cards: Mary Adele Snider, Sally Shafer, Jane Klingensmith, and Peggy Goeller.

TODAY'S RECIPES

RED DEVIL'S FOOD CAKE—Two cups sifted flour, one and one-fourth teaspoon baking soda, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-half cup shortening, one cup sugar, two eggs well beaten, two squares chocolate, melted; three-fourths cup sour milk or buttermilk, one teaspoon vanilla, one-third cup boiling water. Add soda and salt to flour and sift three times. Cream butter well. Add sugar gradually, beat until light and fluffy. Add eggs, then chocolate and blend well. Add flour alternately with sour milk, beating until smooth. Add vanilla, then boiling water, and blend. Turn into greased pan eight by eight inches and bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Let cake stand two hours after baking to develop red color. Ice with butterscotch frosting. To make which place two tablespoons sugar in small skillet and cook over low flame until straw colored, stirring constantly. Remove, add one-quarter cup boiling water (carefully, as mixture spatters). Stir until dissolved. Cream two tablespoons butter, add one-half cup confectioners' sugar. Add sugar syrup and beat, then add two cups confectioners' sugar gradually thinning with one-quarter cup milk until right consistency to spread.

PEACH CUSTARD MERINGUE—One cup milk, three egg yolks, slightly beaten, two tablespoons granulated sugar, speck salt, one-half teaspoon vanilla extract, six canned peach halves, three egg whites. Combine first five ingredients; cook over hot water, stirring, until the custard coats spoon. Cool. Place a peach half in each custard cup. Cover with custard, top with meringue of egg whites beaten stiff with six tablespoons sugar. Brown in oven. Serves six.

DAFFODIL CAKE—One cup sifted cake flour, one and one-fourth cups sifted sugar, one cup egg whites, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon cream of tartar, one-half teaspoon vanilla, four egg yolks, one-half teaspoon orange extract. Sift flour, measure and

COUNTY'S APRIL RELIEF FIGURE UNDER MARCH'S

Marcy Discloses $680 Less Spent During Month; Cost $4,900

348 FAMILIES HELPED

13 Persons Removed To Home Communities

During April a total of $4,900 was expended for relief by Circleville, Pickaway county and the various townships, or $680 less than the amount spent during March.

D. H. Marcy, county relief director, announced Wednesday that the amount spent includes direct relief, medical bills, hospitalization and administration expenses.

Relief costs for April this year were approximately $200 above the same month last year. A reduction during May is expected due to improved conditions.

The case load for the entire county during April included 384 families averaging about four persons to the family. Mr. Marcy estimated the load about 60 families less than in March.

During the month two families, including 13 persons, were removed from the county to their former homes where they are eligible to relief. One family of seven persons was removed from Walnut township. The other, containing six persons, was removed from Monroe township.

Mr. Marcy is continuing a drive to remove all families from the county who are not eligible for relief.

PARSONS SAYS WIFE SLAIN BY HER KIDNAPERS

SALINAS, Cal., May 11—(UP)

—William H. Parsons, former socially prominent New York resident whose wife, Alice McDonnell Parsons, was kidnapped last June, said today he believed she was killed by her abductors.

Parsons, who came West last January, said that Mrs. Parsons' "personal effects" were sent to him two months after his wife's disappearance.

Parsons indicated that the return of Mrs. Parsons' belongings, "by the persons I had been dealing with," convinced him of her death.

He declined to specify the articles returned to him, but said that they included "clothing, and other articles."

Parsons is living at a lettuce-field ranch house five miles outside of Salinas. With him is a house-keeper, Anna Kupryanova, and her 12-year-old son. Mrs. Kupryanova was the Parsons' house-keeper in Long Island at the time of Mrs. Parsons' disappearance. Parsons has been reported to be engaged to Mrs. Kupryanova.

TODAY'S RECIPES

COFFEE MOUSSE — Three-fourths cup strong clear coffee, two-thirds cup sugar, pinch of salt, one egg white, one cup irradiated evaporated milk or one cup heavy cream. Strain coffee through a fine mesh sieve or cheese-cloth. Add sugar and salt, and boil to hard ball stage. Beat egg white and add syrup gradually. When cold, fold into the milk or cream, which has been thoroughly chilled and whipped stiff. Freeze in an automatic refrigerator. This amount serves eight.

SOFT GINGERBREAD — One cup molasses, one cup sugar, one cup sour milk, one-half cup butter, two eggs, one and one-half teaspoons soda, two teaspoons ginger, flour to make as thick as ordinary cake, about three cups. Bake in moderate oven, not more than 350 degrees. By putting in less ginger and adding cinnamon, nutmeg and lemon you can make a nice spice cake, and fruit may be added if you please. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, then eggs, spices, part of milk, then part of flour, alternating until all are used.

HERMITS — One and one-half cups brown sugar, one-half cup butter, two eggs, three tablespoons sour milk, three cups flour, one teaspoon soda, one cup currants, one cup raisins, three-fourths cup nut meats, one tablespoon cinnamon and a little nutmeg. Drop on pan or cookie sheet and bake in 350-degree oven.

Ministers Assail Trick For Gaining Confession

SEATTLE, May 11—(UP)—The Seattle Methodist Ministers association today announced that it objected to an officer's posing as a priest to obtain a confession from Mrs. Mary Eleanor Smith for the slaying 10 years ago of Ensign James Eugene Bassett.

The confession was made by the 73-year-old woman after Joe McCauley, state patrol officer, dressed as a priest, won the friendship of Mrs. Smith and convinced her that she should "make peace with her maker." Mrs. Smith sent a written statement to state prison authorities accusing her son, Decasto Earl Mayer, of the murder of Bassett.

The ministers' statement was issued by the Rev. P. M. Hammond, secretary of the association. It was signed by the 30 members of the association.

"Let it be clearly understood we are not sorry the confession was obtained," the Rev. Hammond said. "It is entirely in the way in which it was obtained."

The statement said: "Confidence is one of the pastor's most potent weapons in doing his work and if that confidence is swept away, little can be done. People make statements to priests and ministers in the knowledge that the ethics of their profession holds them to absolute confidence. The use of such means to obtain confessions will tend to destroy this recognized practice and remove from the minister one of his most valuable means of ministering to anyone in distress."

Mrs. Smith confessed that she watched her son strike Bassett with a hammer and injure him fatally. She said that she helped to dispose of the body. Mayer, she said, was involved in the murders of four other persons in the Northwest many years ago.

Mayer, serving a life sentence in state prison as a habitual criminal, was brought here to help authorities in their search for Bassett's body. Bassett has been missing since September, 1928.

SCHOOLS TO ASK EASIER METHOD TO OBTAIN WORK

COLUMBUS, May 11—(UP)—

Legislation to make easier the participation of school districts in the proposed federal public works program will be introduced into the special legislative session opening Monday, State Educational Director E. N. Dietrich said today.

The school sponsors will seek enactment of a law which will require only a simple majority instead of 65 percent of voters to approve local bond issues, Dietrich said.

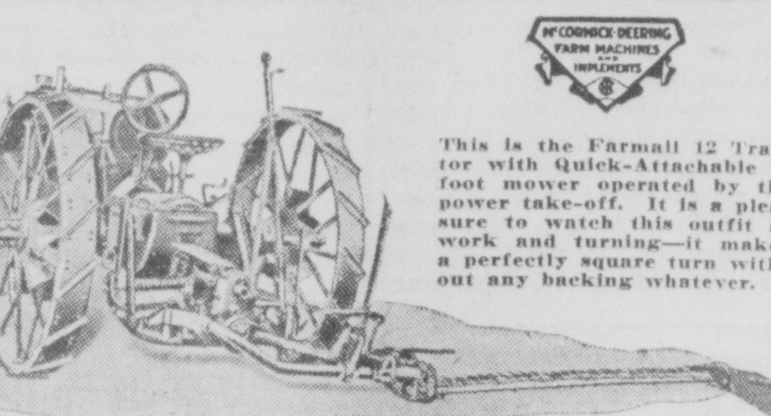

The existing statute providing for 65 percent approval will be a severe handicap to Ohio communities who otherwise might construct new school buildings, the director added.

He pointed out that local districts could obtain federal grants to finance 45 percent of the cost of their building projects if con-

GLASS COLORED BY SUN'S RAYS

IMPERIAL, Cal., May 11—(UP)

—As the result of having picked up a piece of broken glass one day in the Mojave desert, A. J. Clark, dealer in antiques and bric-a-brac, hopes to build a new American industry.

It will be the manufacture of costume jewelry and fancy glassware from glass that has been changed in color by the sun, sometimes over a period of 35 to 40 years.

Clark came to the Imperial valley four years ago from Oceanside. Fond of hunting and tramping, he and his wife spent long days walking over the desert near here.

One day, Clark noticed a piece of glassware lying on the desert, exposed to the sun for many years. It had changed to a peculiarly attractive violet color. He took it home for study, and eventually it became the first of a collection of 4,000 pieces most of which are planted in his garden awaiting further color changes by the sun.

The collection includes about everything there is in throw-away glassware, such as cut-glass vases, candlesticks, every imaginable type of bottle, and glassware in general.

The pieces are set out in odd designs where the sun can play on them all day, constituting a veritable glass garden almost as beautiful as one of flowers.

The Clarks have ascertained that it takes years for the sun to change the color of a piece of glass, and sometimes it never changes.

They have, for example, a pair of glass doorknobs, one of which has turned to violet and the other to amber. In general, all the pieces of glass turn either one or the other of these colors or else remain unchanged.

A few of the pieces the Clarks have disposed of are a drinking glass made from the bottom of a ginger-ale bottle, turned to a color that it is impossible to produce in ordinary glass coloring, and inkstands from other pieces.

They are in no hurry, however, to sell the stock now coloring in their garden, for the longer they keep it, the more beautiful the coloring becomes.

GAS REFRIGERATOR LIVES UP TO ALL CLAIMS MADE FOR IT YEARS AGO

Here's Positive Proof That Gas Refrigeration Remains Silent And Efficient For Years

Mrs. D. G. Wiseman, 39 W. North Broadway, Columbus, Ohio, years ago installed one of the early Electrolux gas refrigerator models. Says Mrs. Wiseman today, "My gas refrigerator is as silent and operates as efficiently as the day it was first installed in my kitchen. I wouldn't exchange it for any other type of refrigerator. It has proven its lasting satisfaction and economy. In all these years, we have never spent one cent in repairs on the freezing unit. I know there are still years and years of service in my Servel Electrolux."

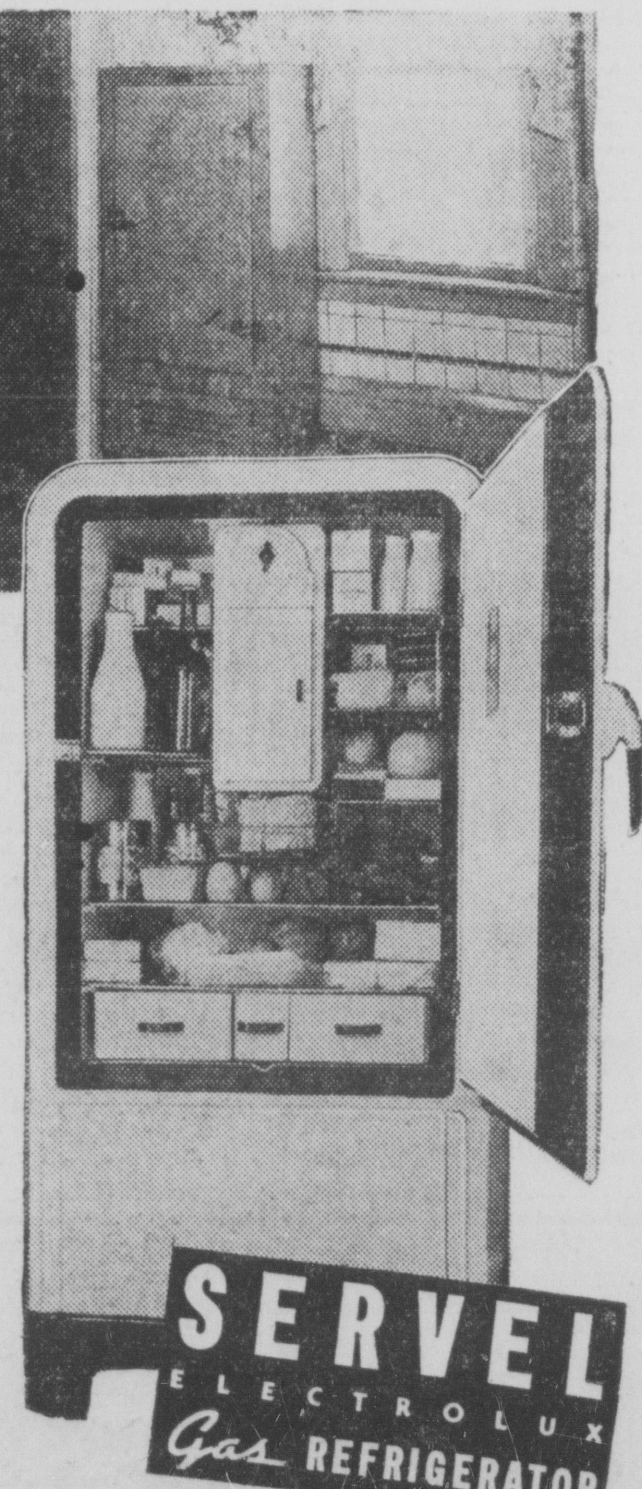

Above is reproduced one of the first Gas Company advertisements on Electrolux gas refrigerators to appear in local newspapers. Says its copy in part, "There is absolutely no noise, as the Gas Refrigerator has no moving parts . . . to get out of adjustment. A small gas flame . . . and an ordinary freezing liquid do the work . . . extremely low cost operation." These claims, made years ago, are sustained today by hundreds of satisfied customers who have owned gas refrigerators for ten years or more.

Pictured at the right is a corner of Mrs. Wiseman's kitchen, showing the Electrolux gas refrigerator installed many years ago, as it appears today in its original colored finish. Still attractive in appearance as well as efficient in operation, it enhances the beauty of this well-kept kitchen.

CINCINNATI, May 11—(UP)—Baseball's High Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, Ford Frick, president of the National league, and William Harridge, president of the American league, will meet here Monday to arrange all details necessary for the major league All-Star game on July 6.

The principal detail to be arranged by the three-man advisory commission is the handling of the ticket sale and the procedure fans must follow to secure the coveted ducats.

Since it was announced last December that Cincinnati would be the site of the All-Star game the office of the Cincinnati Reds had been flooded with ticket requests. All requests have been returned however, and none will be accepted until after Monday's meeting.

Because of all-star game restrictions which prohibit seats in any part of the playing enclosure and tickets which must be set aside for league and club officials, less than 26,000 tickets are expected to be available for the public.

Dusty Cooke, Yank Castoff, Aids Reds

CINCINNATI, May 11—(UP)—Back in 1931 the New York Yankees had on their roster a young outfielder who promised to become one of the game's brightest "name" stars. He was Allan (Dusty) Cooke.

A shoulder injury, received while attempting to make a diving catch, robbed Cooke of the chance to live up to expectations. His throwing arm was affected by the injury and the Yankees finally shipped him to the Boston Red Sox from where he slipped back into the minors.

Today Cooke once again was on the way to major league stardom, this time as a member of the climbing Cincinnati Reds.

Cooke was the principal factor in the Reds' 7 to 3 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday. The husky outfielder secured four hits in five trips to the plate to pace the Redleg attack.

Cooke was off to a slow start at the plate this season, but has been hitting hard in recent games and now has boosted his seasonal mark to near the .300 mark. Yesterday he drove in two runs and figured prominently in the scoring of four others.

"Jumbo Jim" Weaver, claimed on waivers by the Reds from the lowly St. Louis Browns, was the starting pitcher for Cincinnati. Weaver experienced considerable trouble with his control and finally had to be relieved in the sixth inning by Joe Casarella. Casarella pitched air-tight ball the remainder of the distance and gained credit for the triumph.

Indians and Yanks Start Fight For Second Place

NEW YORK, May 11—(UP)—The Rainmaker and the Washington Senators have conspired to make today's game between the world champion New York Yankees and the Cleveland Indians just another ball game instead of a crucial battle for the American league lead.

With the rainmaker keeping the Yanks idle two days while Washington was running its winning streak to seven straight, the Senators held undisputed sway today as the Yanks and Indians began their private feud for second place. New York and Cleveland, now tied a full game behind Washington, opened a two game series.

Rain washed out all but four major league games yesterday. The Senators twice came from behind to trim the St. Louis Browns, 8-6. It was the Browns' eighth straight loss. With two out in the eighth, Washington had its winning rally. Mel Almada singled and stole second. Then two walks filled the bases and big Zeke Bonura singled, driving in two runs. Stone beat out a hit and Hughes' wild throw allowed another run in. The Senators knocked out their ex-teammate, Buck Newsom, in the sixth, but made their winning uprising against Vito Tamulis. Red Kress, Browns' shortstop, had a perfect day, "4 for 4."

Bill Terry's rampaging Giants continued to sweep through the west by plastering the Chicago Cubs with a 5-1 licking. It was the Giants' fifth victory in seven games in the West. Joe Moore led the Giants' attack with four singles in five trips. Harry Gumbert pitched a five-hit game.

Cincinnati pulled up to .500 by blowing down the Phillies, 7-3. Dusty Cooke hit two doubles and two singles in four times at bat. Hershel Martin, Phils' outfielder, while attempting to steal second was knocked unconscious by Catcher Bill Hershberger's throw and had to leave the game. Joe Casarella, as relief pitcher, got credit for the victory.

Brooklyn slugged out 16 hits to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 10-2. The defeat dropped the Cards to sixth place as the idle Boston Bees moved up a notch. Chief Key led the Dodgers' attack with two doubles and two singles in five times up, accounting for five runs altogether. Luke Hamlin held the Cards to seven hits for his third victory.

The British lion and the Italian lamb are lying down together, and anybody can guess what's going to happen to that lamb.

Complete information has been sent Principal Robert Terhune of the local high school, through whom reservations must be made. Each year Ohio State has a High School Day during the football season, attracting some 40,000 boys and girls. Believing that track and field sports also should be encouraged, another High School Day has been set up for the coming meet. The admission charge also includes a souvenir program. The meet will be held in Ohio stadium.

Twenty-four athletes from nine Western Conference schools who won places in last year's meet will be seeking further honors this year.

National interest in the meet is seen from the fact that the contests will be carried over a coast-to-coast radio network.

SEVEN OUTFITS TO PERFORM IN SOFTBALL LOOP

First Game To Be Played Next Monday Evening; Opponents Uncertain

UTILITY FIELD USED

25 Attend Conference in Hammel's Office

Seven teams have been organized to date for Circleville's softball league this year, George L. Hammel, league manager, announced Wednesday.

Approximately 25 persons interested in the softball league met in Mr. Hammel's office Tuesday evening to make plans for league activities. The first game will be played next Monday, beginning at 6:30 p. m., on the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. field. Who will meet in the first game has not been decided. A schedule of games will be prepared by Mr. Hammel.

CUMMINGS AND REX MAYS MEET IN MATCH RACE

INDIANAPOLIS, May 11—(UP)—"Wild Bill" Cummings, Indianapolis and Rex Mays, Glendale, Cal., will determine which is the better racing driver Sunday in an unprecedented match race at the Indianapolis motor speedway.

The race was sanctioned yesterday by speedway officials. It will settle an argument between Bill White, Los Angeles sportsman and backer of Mays, and Cotton Henning, racing manager for Mike Boyle of Chicago. White claims Mays is a better driver than Cummings, chief pilot in the Boyle stable.

It was reported White and Henning have made a $1,000 bet on their drivers.

The winner will be decided in the best two out of three heats. The first and second will be six laps, or 15 miles. The third, if necessary, will be 10 laps, or 25 miles.

Cummings will drive an eight-cylinder Boyle special of 268 cubic inches, Mays an eight cylinder 182 cubic inch supercharged job.

Rivalry between the two has been intense for several years. "Wild Bill" displaced Mays as speed king last year when he captured the coveted pole position with the top qualifying time of better than 123 miles an hour.

JOHNNY ALLEN OUT OF LINEUP WITH BAD BACK

NEW YORK, May 11—(UP)—The wavering pennant hopes of the Cleveland Indians were given another setback today when it was announced that their star hurler, Johnny Allen, would be on the shelf for an indefinite period because of a lame back.

Allen was to have pitched the opening contest of an abbreviated two game series against the New York Yankees. With Allen on the inactive list, Manager Oscar Vitt selected the veteran Mel Harder to face the Yanks.

Rolie Hemsley, the playboy catcher who has been used thus far exclusively to catch the offerings of Bob Feller, was to be the receiver. Vitt said he believed Hemsley would steady the wobbly Cleveland pitching staff.

Yankee stadium long has been a jinx to Cleveland teams, but the current Indians must gain at least an even break here to boost their average for the first eastern invasion of the season to .500. Thus far they have won but three out of seven games. Last year, Cleveland triumphed only once in 11 starts here.

KANSAS CITY '9' SHOWS STRENGTH IN ASSOCIATION

COLUMBUS, May 11—(UP)—If the mad march of the Kansas City Blues toward the American Association pennant is to be halted, it appeared today that the task would be up to clubs in the western division of the league.

On their first swing through the east the Kansas City team won eight out of 11 games and since returning home to meet the same clubs the Blues have triumphed in seven out of nine encounters.

Kansas City continued its domination over eastern division clubs and increased its lead to three full games yesterday when it downed Indianapolis 8 to 1. The victory was the fourth straight for the Blues.

Kansas City hammered the offerings of two Indianapolis pitchers for 11 hits. Included in the barrage were a pair of home runs by Walter Judnich and a circuit drive by Eddie Joost.

Minneapolis climbed into second place in the race when it bested the cellar-dwelling Columbus Red Birds 4 to 2.

Leroy Parmelee won his fourth straight game as he outpitched the rookie, Hershel Lyons.

The game was marked by two violent disputes between Umpires Johnny Johnston and Hal Weaver and Columbus players. Manager Burt Shotton and five Columbus players were ejected from the game.

In the other contest Toledo took an 8 to 6 decision from St. Paul.

URBANA NAMES JIM McDONALD AS HEAD COACH

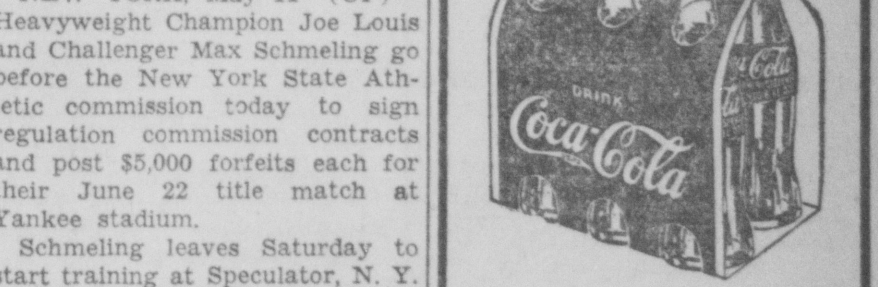

URBANA, May 11—(UP)—Jim McDonald, Springfield, for the last three years one of Ohio State's outstanding all-around athletes, today was selected as head football and basketball coach at Urbana High school. McDonald succeeds Roy Black and will assume his duties next September.

McDonald was co-captain of the Ohio State football team last Fall and captain of the Bucks' 1938 basketball quintet. He is now playing an infield position on the baseball team.

LEWIS AND MAX SIGN ARTICLES FOR TITLE TILT

NEW YORK, May 11—(UP)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis and Challenger Max Schmeling go before the New York State Athletic commission today to sign regulation commission contracts and post $5,000 forfeits each for their June 22 title match at Yankee stadium.

Schmeling leaves Saturday to start training at Speculator, N. Y.

'Buried' Boy Returns to Mother

"BURIED" last year, Donald Fiore, 15, returned to his mother and father at Masontown, Pa., on Mother's Day. When the mother, Mrs. Phoebe Fiore, saw the boy, she fainted. Donald disappeared in February, 1936. Early in 1937 he was identified as the young fellow shot to death in a girl's home in Kentucky. The boy told his mother he had just "wanted to go around and see some places" when he disappeared. The problem now facing authorities is: "Who is buried in Donald's place?"

ORIENT SCHOOL NEWS

Grades 5, 6, 7 and 8

May 6, Friday our school was dismissed so that we might attend the Pickaway, all County Field meet held at our township school at Commercial Point, Ohio. There were very few from our room who did not attend.

A birthday party was held for Mrs. Fred Francis, May 4, at the Walter's home in Orient.

The guests of the evening included Mr. and Mrs. Francis and family, Mr. and Mrs. Williams and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walters and family.

Clayton Dillon reviews his adventures of Saturday night. He was accompanied by Donald and Russell when they filled flares on a P. W. A. project near London. There were 52 flares to fill and place and he helped with all but 13 which were kept for spares. He had never experienced such an act so therefore he suffered a slightly burned finger.

Sunday, May 8 we had our cousins down for dinner. There were nine of them, naming: Patty, Frank, Johnny, Mary Ann, Eloise, Junior, and my aunt and uncle.

After we finished our meal we had a table full of dishes. It was Mother's Day so we persuaded Mother to leave the kitchen and we girls would do the work. Jeanie and Mary Ann continued making excuses to leave so they wouldn't have to help. Finally they in a dish towel fight with Junior, when Eloise went to shake the table cloth Jeanie took it and hit Junior. We were more than an hour completing our task. After dinner Annabel and Hershel came and we took some pictures until the sun left and then it rained. Mother got a box of candy, a slip, a picture, a bouquet of flowers, and a dress for Mother's Day.

A Trip to the Horse Races
Last Friday Harold Whiteside and I went to the horse races at Euclid Park. When the race was ready to begin we each choose a number and my horse won. After half an hour the second race began but we didn't pick any numbers. During this race one horse broke a ligament in the back of its leg. The veterinarian, Dr. White, soon came to administer aid. The ligament was broken beyond recovery. The horse would have to be killed. The doctor, made a dose of poison which he put in a tube for that purpose. He then injected the needle in the horse's neck and when the poison reached the heart the horse fell dead. The owner was at a great loss. We never had experienced anything of this kind before.

CUSTODY OF TOT SPLIT BETWEEN TWO FAMILIES

LOS ANGELES, May 11—(UP)—

The custody of 5-year-old Barbara Jean Weatherford, known as the "50-50 baby," was split in new proportions between her parents and foster-parents today.

By order of Juvenile Judge Robert H. Scott, the girl will spend 12 days of each two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Weatherford. The other two days she will spend with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Baxter, a childless couple who took her as a baby because her seven brothers and sisters had whooping cough, and never gave her back completely.

Judge Scott's ruling dissolved a truce whereby the two families had divided the girl's custody "50-50" the last year. One had her from Monday to Friday, and the other from Friday to Monday of each week.

The Baxters came into court yesterday seeking to adopt the girl on grounds that she had been "abandoned" by her normal parents. Judge Scott called all four parents into his chambers. He told the natural parents that they had lost all moral right to their child but still were entitled to her by natural law.

"But," he said, "after the four years of tender care and love lavished on this child by Mr. and Mrs. Baxter, I cannot, with justice to them, tear the child from their arms. Try to get together for the child's sake."

By this time both parents and foster-parents were sobbing. They agreed to the judge's plan and left court arm-in-arm.

BUS LINE NAMED IN ACTIONS FOR $110,000 DAMAGE

CINCINNATI, May 11—(UP)—

An accident caused by a bundle of newspapers today had brought a $110,000 personal injury damage suit by Mr. and Mrs. James W. Cassidy, Los Angeles, against the Capital Greyhound Bus Lines.

Mrs. Cassidy claims she received permanent disabling injuries including a broken back when she attempted to board a Greyhound bus May 11, 1937 at Hillsboro, O.

She stepped on the bundle of papers placed beside the bus and passengers and the bundle fell apart, throwing her to the ground. She asked $100,000 compensation and her husband, $10,000.

DAVEY'S TRUCE WITH FOES MAY BE SHORT-LIVED

Peace Pledged During Next Gathering Of Solons On Relief Question

Meeting Must Be Confined To Aiding Needy

COLUMBUS, May 11—(UP)—Peace tentatively pledged between the Davey administration and its opposition for the forthcoming special session of the legislature rests on flimsy foundations that may collapse with the slightest provocation, adherents of both sides admitted today.

Three factors, it appeared, will be the major ones for a harmonious session with a minimum of political wrangling between the anti-Davey Democrats and the Republican minority on one side and the governor's supporters on the other.

These are the desire of most members to complete a relief program quickly and get busy on their primary campaigning; a general feeling that Democrats would be playing into Republican hands by renewing openly the struggles of the last session, and a fear of widespread criticism if relief legislation is delayed by partisan quarreling.

Up to Governor

Maintenance of a political truce, according to both "friends and enemies of the administration arriving here prior to the reconvening of the assembly, depends largely on determination of Gov. Martin L. Davey to keep the session closed to every subject except relief.

A spokesman for the senate "hatchet men's" group said that if the governor sponsors other legislation which could be interpreted as favorable campaign material for himself, the truce will end forthwith. The same attitude was displayed several weeks ago by Republican leaders.

If that happens the electorate may be treated to the spectacle of a major phase of the primary campaign being waged in the legislative chambers, for the issues raised by the graft investigation and the reported assessment of state employees are near the surface.

The chief executive always is the object of pleas to expand the scope of a special session and Governor Davey in the past has sent an unusually large number of special messages to the legislature. There have been hints that pressure might be brought in favor of acquisition of park development sites along Lake Erie and the governor is known to favor such a plan. Whether he will approve it in this session was not known.

Difficulty Faced

Most leaders anticipated considerable difficulty at best in putting through the tentatively outlined $17,000,000 relief program and expected a split between rural and urban members.

To complicate matters by injection of other issues, increasing the possibilities for differences, would only make the situation worse, it was felt.

Actually the relief program does not seem to have jelled completely and there remained the possibility of a drastic change in plans should the federal lending-spending program go through before the legislature gets well into action. There probably would be a move then for the state to take advantage of work relief plans.

Magicians May Surprise City

CINCINNATI, O. (UP)—Cincinnati residents will be skeptical of all they see from June 14 to June 17. The 13th annual convention of the International Brotherhood of Magicians will be held here at that time.

'Buried' Boy Returns to Mother

"BURIED" last year, Donald Fiore, 15, returned to his mother and father at Masontown, Pa., on Mother's Day. When the mother, Mrs. Phoebe Fiore, saw the boy, she fainted. Donald disappeared in February, 1936. Early in 1937 he was identified as the young fellow shot to death in a girl's home in Kentucky. The boy told his mother he had just "wanted to go around and see some places" when he disappeared. The problem now facing authorities is: "Who is buried in Donald's place?"

Grades 5, 6, 7 and 8

May 6, Friday our school was dismissed so that we might attend the Pickaway, all County Field meet held at our township school, at Commercial Point, Ohio. There were very few from our room who did not attend.

We are very sorry to hear of the sickness of Frank Boyd, one of our outstanding fifth graders. He is suffering from arthritis.

Several fellows from near here staged a motorcycle race. The line of race began at King's church continuing on the Buckley Wood's Road, up the Gantz Hill to the Harrisburg and Darbyville road back to Orient. It is gravel road most of the way and very dangerous.

A birthday party was held for Mrs. Fred Francis, May 4, at the Walter's home in Orient. The guests of the evening included Mr. and Mrs. Francis and family, Mr. and Mrs. Williams and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walters and family.

At 9 all gathered around to enjoy many games. Later refreshments were enjoyed. The family departed wishes Mrs. Francis many happy returns.

Clayton Dillon reviews his adventures of Saturday night. He was accompanied by Donald and Russell when they filled flares on a P. W. A. project near London. There were 52 flares to fill and place and he helped with all but 13 which were kept for spares.

He had never experienced such an act so therefore he suffered a slightly burned finger.

Sunday, May 8 we had our cousins down for dinner. There were nine of them, naming: Patty, Franky, Johnny, Mary Ann, Eloise, Junior, and my aunt and uncle. After we finished our meal we had a table full of dishes. It was Mother's Day so we persuaded Mother to leave the kitchen and we girls would do the work.

Jeannie and Mary Ann continued making excuses to leave so they wouldn't have to help. Finally they got in a dish towel fight with Junior, when Eloise went to shake the table cloth Jeannie took it and hit Junior. We were more than an hour completing our task.

After dinner: Annabel and Hershel came and we took some pictures until the sun left and then it rained. Mother got a box of candy, a slip, a picture, a bouquet of flowers, and a dress for Mother's Day.

A Trip to the Horse Races Last Friday Harold Whiteside and I went to the horse races at Beulah Park. When the race was ready to begin we each choose a number and my horse won. After half an hour the second race began but we didn't pick any numbers. During this race one horse broke a ligament in the back of its leg. The veterinarian, Dr. White, soon came to administer aid. The ligament was broken beyond recovery. The horse would have to be killed. The doctor, made a dose of poison which he put in a tube for that purpose. He then injected the needle in the horse's neck and when the poison reached the heart the horse fell dead. The owner was at a great loss. We never had experienced anything of this kind before.

CUSTODY OF TOT SPLIT BETWEEN TWO FAMILIES

LOS ANGELES, May 11—(UP)—

The custody of 5-year-old Barbara Jean Weatherford, known as the "50-50 baby," was split in new proportions between her parents and foster-parents today.

By order of Juvenile Judge Robert H. Scott, the girl will spend 12 days of each two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Weatherford. The other two days she will spend with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Baxter, a childless couple who took her as a baby because her seven brothers and sisters had whooping cough, and never gave her back completely.

Judge Scott's ruling dissolved a truce whereby the two families had divided the girl's custody "50-50" the last year. One had her from Monday to Friday, and the other from Friday to Monday of each week.

The Baxters came into court yesterday seeking to adopt the girl on grounds that she had been "abandoned" by her normal parents. Judge Scott called all four parents into his chambers. He told the natural parents that they had lost all moral right to their child but still were entitled to her by natural law.

"But," he said, "after the four years of tender care and love lavished on this child by Mr. and Mrs. Baxter, I cannot, with justice to them, tear the child from their arms. Try to get together for the child's sake."

By this time both parents and foster-parents were sobbing. They agreed to the judge's plan and left court arm-in-arm.

DAVEY'S TRUCE WITH FOES MAY BE SHORT-LIVED

Peace Pledged During Next Gathering Of Solons On Relief Question

COLUMBUS, May 11—(UP)—

Peace tentatively pledged between the Davey administration and its opposition for the forthcoming special session of the legislature rests on flimsy foundations that may collapse with the slightest provocation, adherents of both sides admitted today.

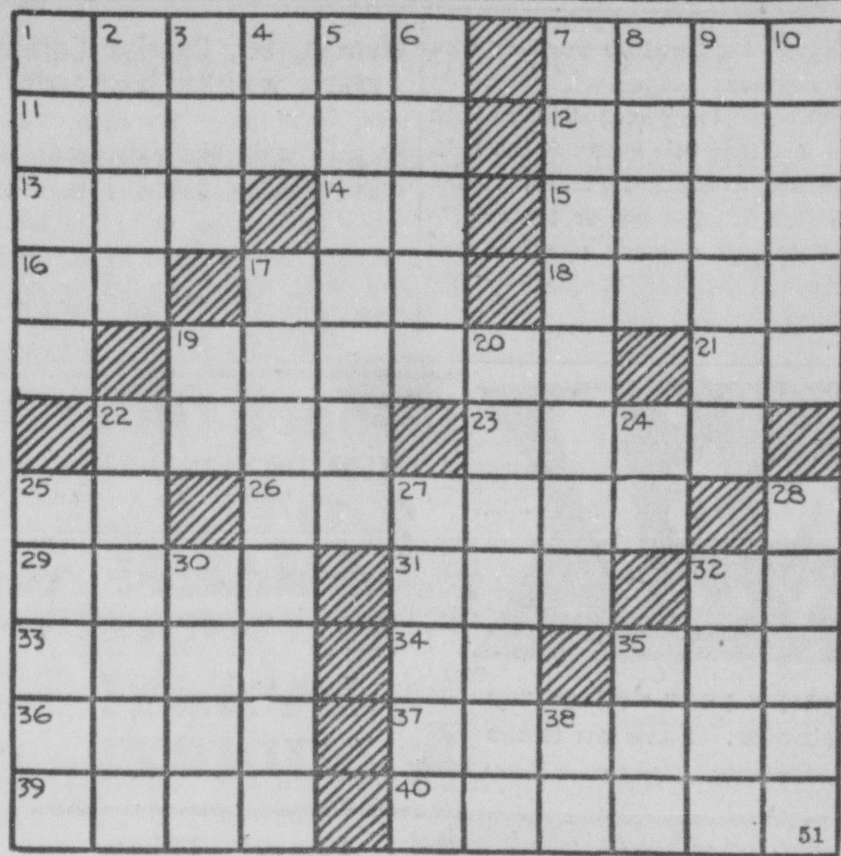

Three factors, it appeared, will be the major ones for a harmonious session with a minimum of political wrangling between the anti-Davey Democrats and the Republican minority on one side and the governor's supporters on the other.

These are the desire of most members to complete a relief program quickly and get busy on their primary campaigning; a general feeling that Democrats would be playing into Republican hands by renewing openly the struggles of the last session, and a fear of widespread criticism if relief legislation is delayed by partisan quarreling.

Up to Governor

Maintenance of a political truce, according to both "friends and enemies of the administration arriving here prior to the reconvening of the assembly, depends largely on determination of Gov. Martin L. Davey to keep the session closed to every subject except relief.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

FIVE-SUIT SAFETY

SAFETY PLAYS are just as important in Five-Suit Bridge as in four-suit contract. They exist in one additional form—the correct use of the widow card. Another important principle of the old game—to adopt even an improbable course if it affords the only possible way to make your contract—also fits. It too may be extended to the placing of the widow card. In brief, you want to give yourself every possible chance to succeed, either through a safety play increasing your probabilities or through a desperate stab preserving your sole hope.

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable. Widow card: Eagle 2.) South started the action here with a diamond and after North bid an Eagle he tried 1-No Trump, although he had no heart stopper. North rebid Eagles at two, South rebid no trump at the same level and North raised to 3-No Trumps. When the heart J was led, South regretted his optimism and saw that game would be out of the question unless he could bring in the dummy's Eagles. If he had put the widow Eagle deuce in the dummy to lengthen that suit, he would have been thrashed, unless the A fell on the first round. Instead he put it in his own hand, discarding the spade deuce.

With five Eagles in the opponents' hands, his fate depended on the A coming in on the second round. If the player holding it had three, he would surely hold it up twice and thus beat the contract. The odds were three to two that this would happen, but the short end developed. The man with only two spades had the A, so the contract was made—four Eagles, one heart, four diamonds, one club and one spade, the 11 tricks required for three-odd over the eight-trick book.

BOY SCOUT FINANCIAL CAMPAIGN TO BE PLANNED AT CONFAB TONIGHT

RENICK DUNLAP, 1937 CHAIRMAN, CALL LEADERS

Pickaway County District Needs $600 To Pay Way In Area Council

VILLAGE MEN INVITED

Final Session Of Boyology Course Scheduled

Plans for the annual sustaining membership appeal for Boy Scout work in the Pickaway district will be discussed tonight at 7:30 at Memorial Hall when men interested in the welfare of the movement here meet at the invitation of Renick Dunlap, district finance chairman. Representatives from each of the communities in the county embracing Scouting will attend.

Dunlap, member of the executive board of the Central Ohio Council, of which the Pickaway district is a part, led the successful campaign here last year. Each year in May the eight counties which comprise the local Council solicit funds to maintain the movement. The Pickaway district's share of the operating expense of the Council is $600.

$600 Necessary
Exact dates for the local drive and the campaign organization will be determined at this evening's meeting.

"Fun With Junk" is the topic scheduled for the final session of the Circleville "Boyology" course which will be held this evening in Memorial Hall. Howard Kautz, field Scout executive, will be in charge.

Meeting Final One
Tonight's meeting will bring to a close the series of six weekly training sessions for men interested in boys. The course was initiated last month to help fathers, teachers, Scout leaders, Sunday school workers and others who work with boys. Speakers who have made presentations during the course include Robert Heistand, Chester Seymour, Charles Goslin, Gilbert Dey and Kautz.

Two patrols of youth leaders from Circleville, Laurelville, Ashville, Williamsport, and Darbyville were enrolled in the course which was offered, free of charge, to all men. The committee which sponsored the course here was comprised of Robert Terhune, J. I. Smith, Jr., and Rev. R. T. Kelsey.

WASHINGTON, May 11—(UP)—The senate foreign relations committee meets today to consider the Nye resolution for repeal of the neutrality act after bitter criticism of France and Great Britain by its ranking minority member—Sen. William E. Borah, R., Ida. Denouncing French and British moves to recognize Italy's conquest of Ethiopia as a "shameless betrayal," Borah asserted that it was time to avoid discrimination between European democracies and dictatorships.

"They all follow the same principle," he said. "The democracies now are engaged in violating the most solemn promise ever given to a small nation. The program of violation is led by the democracies."

"Let's talk about principles hereafter rather than attempting to discriminate between European democracies and dictatorships."

He said that he had never believed that the neutrality act could be embodied into a rigid statute because "circumstances and conditions are too varied."

"You have to trust something to the President," he said.

The foreign relations committee will consider the resolution introduced by Sen. Gerald P. Nye, R., N. D., that would repeal the embargo against the exportation of arms and munitions to Spain.

Chairman Key Pittman, D., Nev., expected to have a report on the resolution requested from the state department. Secretary of State Cordell Hull conferred with President Roosevelt on it Monday but has not communicated with Pittman.

Autos Don't Go With Relief

MONROE, N. Y. (UP)—Automobiles for relief clients have been barred by a welfare board ruling. Hereafter, applicants for relief will be obliged to surrender their auto license plates.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Deacon Hampton and his Cotton Pickers are all one family of 11 people, ranging from little Susa to Daddy Hampton. This band is one of the most outstanding colored bands in the country. They play, sing, dance, box and do everything that entertains the public.

The father is a college graduate and teaches any instrument. The mother is with the band also and she is proud to know her own will be able to earn their livelihood in an honorable and upright manner. To this union there have been 13 children, three deceased, leaving 10 very talented youngsters full of vim and vigor.

This band has been playing the leading theatres through the country and are on their way to California where they are to work in pictures this coming Winter.

AT THE GRAND

The first animated sound picture in the film industry was his Mickey Mouse, "Steamboat Willie," made in 1928.

The first one in color was "Flowers and Trees," which ranked in awards both in the United States and abroad.

The first animated picture to show an illusion of third dimension was "The Old Mill," recently completed, and which was a testing ground, in this respect, for the first animated feature, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," produced in Technicolor.

It appears at the Grand Theatre. All of these developments have taken place within the last 10 years, since Disney started his now-extensive studio in the back of a garage, with his brother and two assistants as the staff.

WALNUT SCHOOL BOARD CHOOSES TEACHING CORPS

All Walnut township school teachers, with the exception of two who resigned, were reemployed by the township board of education Tuesday evening. Both vacancies were filled.

Miss Rosemary Boggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Boggs, Pickaway township, was employed to succeed Mrs. Elsie Gorton. Miss Georgia Bowers, teacher at South Bloomfield for the last two years, was employed to succeed Mrs. Ruth McCurdy fifth. Miss Boggs completes her studies at Miami university this year.

WEATHER REMAINS COOL; TEMPERATURE SKIDS TO 47

Unusually cool weather continued to keep Circleville residents shivering Wednesday.

Tuesday night the mercury dropped to a low of 47 degrees.

Highest temperature Tuesday was 70 degrees.

"Everything seems unusual with the weather this season," Dr. H.R. Clarke, weather recorder, said. "Either it's too hot or too cold."

Fair and warmer weather was forecast for late Wednesday and Thursday.
